"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

A thing has to be very, very good indeed to maintain popularity for several decades. Values change, habits and fashions vary. That which is highly esteemed by one generation may be forgotten by the next.

Values change, yet Beecham's Pills are still "Worth a Guinea a Box." Their popularity has increased, they are more widely used and more highly esteemed than ever before.

The reason is quite plain. Anything which really ministers to health is bound to be appreciated and valued and you cannot take a dose of Beecham's Pills without being benefited.

Whether you take them as a remedy for ailments of stomach, liver or bowels; whether you take them to drive away depression or to clear your complexion; to give you an appetite or to clear away biliousness you will experience the desired improvement in your health.

WOMAN AND HER HOME.

HARMONISING OF ANTIQUES.

(NO. 1.)

AS man emerged from his primitive state the desire arose to decorate his habitation in some simple manner. Traces are to be found, dating back to the earliest ages, of this taste, which was not confined to any particular country or continent. To-day, in many parts of the globe, excavations are disclosing marvellous relics of early decorative art. This is particularly the case in Egypt, Persia, Mesopotamia, and China. Many civilisations have come and gone, some leaving scarcely a trace, but all have tended towards the development of art. Through all the centuries we find Greek art invariably characterised by great simplicity and purity of form, whereas amongst Oriental races an extraordinary feeling for colour is to be found in all their artistic endeavours. Minute finish and a strict adherence to conventional rule and geometrical accuracy are the striking features of Chinese and Japanese art.

It is interesting to trace how these various influences have borne an important part in forming European artistic taste, and how in our own day we have profited by the valuable lessons taught us by the Japanese, but, on the other hand, it is regrettable to note the rapid deterioration in colouring as exemplified in the carpets and fabrics now flooding the markets. The Chinese alone amongst the Eastern nations remain true to their early art principles. In India and Persia the native weaver, by adopting aniline dyes, seems to have lost his old-time unerring genius for colour, and now contents himself with producing articles which, though gaudy in tone, have no claims whatsoever to beauty or artistic merit.

There is no doubt that the distinctive characteristics of different periods and countries, and the improved facilities of modern transit, have led to the confusion of styles, and have multiplied the difficulties in segregating types in decorative art. Through all the ages people have accumulated treasures, and the question arises, how are these beautiful things, often incongruous and wholly anachronistic, to be brought into harmony. The difficulty is in many cases enhanced by the fact that the cabinets, the pictures, china, tapestries, curios, etc., have been accumulated through various generations, each object marking some stage or period in the family history, and having grown, as even inanimate things often will, to fit exactly some particular nook or corner.

With such possessions the real problem is not what style is to be favoured, but rather how shall an air of artistic harmony be best preserved in a miscellaneous collection belonging to different ages and various countries. In arranging a room before even its art treasures can be considered, it is of primary importance that the individuality of its occupant should be given expression. The tone of thought, profession, and artistic leanings ought to influence the arrangements. Much also depends on the use to which a room is to be devoted. It is idle to lay down any fixed, or, indeed, tentative rules as to suitable colouring for any individual room. An all-white room will look supremely beautiful in one house, but may lack charm in another. The walls of glowing rosy red that make for beauty, with furniture and chimney piece of the best Chippendale period, will have an unpleasing effect with black and white jazz furniture covers and Cubist pictures. A Persian carpet will give just the requisite harmonising note of colour in conjunction with good oil paintings and bronzes, while in another room an Aubusson carpet of delicate hues is needed to set off the Adams decorations and old French furniture.

As a rule, a really beautiful article will generally harmonise with others of an equal standard. Certain objects should never be grouped together, such as old Nankin china and modern porcelain. Indeed, it may be said that Eastern curios and china should always be classed by themselves, as in that way, and in that way alone, is their full beauty and perfection displayed.

THE GAD-ABOUTS.

THEY live very near to the quiet wayside station, these ladies of whom I write, and they will not think me unduly familiar if I speak of them as ducks—for that is what they really are—fawn and white Indian runners!

They belong to the wife of the stationmaster, who lives in a red-brick cottage beside the dusty road, some fifty yards from the little station, with its complete absence of any bustle or hurry. But, unlike most other ducks one hears of, they are not now content to lead an uneventful life, wandering about the quiet green fields in search of suitable titbits or splashing gaily in the shallow muddy pond. No; they believe in the wider outlook obtained by travel, and have enjoyed some pleasant expeditions from time to time, to return refreshed and invigorated by their little bit of variety.

It all began on the day when they decided to visit the little station, and, when there, found a long string of empty wagons standing beside the platform. Further investigation showed that one of the trucks had contained some high-grade barley, the remains of which still lay on the straw-covered floor. So with quacks of delight the adventurers entered the wagon, scrambling up the slanting gangway, and proceeded to demolish the gleanings to be found there. So engrossed were they in this delightful occupation that they failed to notice the door of the wagon being shut by an unobservant porter, and in a moment they found themselves journeying southwards in the loudly clanking train. The guard, who was disturbed en route by a continued and much-interested quacking, haled them forth at a station further down the line, where an official telephoned to his colleagues at various places as to the identity of the travellers. Ignominiously the ladies returned in a hamper and took up life where they had left off. But the things that had satisfied them before, now seemed stale and profitless, and ever they longed for the outside world of which they had caught a glimpse.

Thus the uneventful days passed by, and harvest time came, when the air was full of the hum of the threshing machines. The heavy lorries journeyed from the village, a mile or so distant, to the tiny station, leaving the load of barley there while they returned for more. Then once again the spirit of adventure took hold of the ducks, and, finding the driver of the lorry deep in conversation with a leisurely friend, our heroines waddled up the slanting planks and searched the floor of the vehicle for the succulent grains that might remain. With a start the driver realised the passage of time, and the heavy lorry bumped away towards the village, carrying with it the delighted gad-abouts, only, alas! once again to be returned in dire disgrace.

But whether contentment will ever again be theirs, who can tell?

FOR THE COOK.

Rhubarb is at its best just now for jam-making. The following recipes will be found a change from the ordinary Rhubarb Jam.

RHUBARB JAM.

Ingredients—Eight pounds rhubarb, one pound preserved ginger, eight pounds sugar (loaf).

Method—Wash rhubarb and cut into small cubes. Cut ginger also into small pieces. Cover with the sugar, and allow to stand for five days. Put the juice into a preserving pan and boil five minutes, add the fruit, and boil all together one hour. Pot, and keep in a dry place. This jam is delicious.

RED RHUBARB JELLY.

Wash, but do not peel, a quantity of rhubarb, cut into small pieces, and to every four pounds allow one-third teacup water. Put in a pan, which must have a lid, and steam until rhubarb is soft. Strain through a jelly bag. To every pint of juice allow one pound of best sugar. Boil quickly until it thickens; eight pints of juice and eight pounds of sugar require from 20-30 minutes' boiling. This jelly is best made in autumn, as rhubarb juice is thicker then. Pot, and keep in a dry place. Flavour according to taste.

SURCHARGES REMITTED.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD'S LETTER.

Mrs. McKean presided at the meeting of the Dublin Guardians yesterday.

The Local Government Board wrote recalling surcharges made by the auditor against the Guardians to the amount of £960 18s., and stating:—"As regards the amounts surcharged in respect of additional payments to officials, it is clear from the correspondence bearing on the matter that the Guardians were fully alive to the fact that they were acting without authority in making such payments, and their action in rejecting a recommendation of their own Economy Committee in October, 1921, to reduce the additional payments by 50 per cent. is rendered all the more open to criticism. It has been mainly in view of the representations submitted by the Guardians that the Minister decided to remit these surcharges, and, having taken that course, he is now prepared to give covering sanction to additional payments made to officials or employés up to and including the half-year ended 31st March, 1923. Beyond that date, when it was understood the additional payments referred to were discontinued by the Guardians, no allowances in the form of bonuses to officials or employés of the Guardians can be agreed to, and this decision must be regarded as final. The Minister's decision upon the applications made by the persons aggrieved by surcharges amounting to £37 6s. 8d. and £16 7s. 6d. will be issued to the Guardians in the course of a week."

Mr. Bowen said that he hoped the newspapers would give as much publicity to the remission as they did to the imposing of the surcharges. These matters of the payments occurred at a time when the Guardians were serving under two masters—the British and the Irish Local Governments.

Mrs. Evans asked who was going to pay the Local Government Board auditor for his unnecessary audit when the surcharges had been remitted. (Laughter.)

MATERNITY NURSE'S PAY.

Miss O'Connor proposed, and Mr. Donoghue seconded, a resolution agreeing to pay the maternity nurse on relief duty in the hospital from 3 to 10 o'clock three evenings per week 7s. 6d. per evening, and 10s. per day or night for a full day or night's duty. The motion was adopted by eight votes to seven, one not voting.

CUSTODY OF A CHILD.

GRANDMOTHER'S APPLICATION.

In the King's Bench Division yesterday, before the Lord Chief Justice, sitting as Vacation Judge,

Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Messrs. Noyk and O'Reilly) applied on behalf of Matilda McCormack, of The Gardens, Stranmillis House, Belfast, for a conditional order of habeas corpus directed to Mrs. C. J. Pigott, of St. John's, Terenure, Co. Dublin, requiring her to produce the child Matilda Frances Bradshaw, and to await the order of the Court as to her custody. Counsel said that Mrs. McCormack was the maternal grandmother of the child, who was born in Cork on the 20th November, 1916. The mother of the child, Martha McCormack, was killed at Londonderry on the 8th February, 1921, and he (counsel) was moving on the affidavit of the grandmother, who had the custody of the child. Mrs. McCormack in her affidavit stated that on the 6th December, 1916, she handed over the child to be nursed by Mrs. Mary McCann, 12 Henrietta street, Dublin. On the 20th October, 1921, acting on her instructions, Mrs. McCann handed over the child to Mrs. Pigott, who was then in charge of a home at St. John's, Terenure, County Dublin, on the understanding that it would be handed over to Mrs. McCormack when she obtained a fixed place of abode. The child had not been handed over to Mrs. McCormack, and counsel now applied for a conditional order of habeas corpus.

The Lord Chief Justice asked was it stated in the affidavit that Mrs. McCormack had a fixed home.

Mr. Gleeson said that Mrs. McCormack did not state that distinctly, but that was the inference he drew from the affidavit.

The Lord Chief Justice said that counsel had better find out something more about his client for next week.

The application was adjourned for a week.

SHOP MANAGER'S ACTION.

EXPELLED FROM HIS UNION.

A motion was heard in a case of Michael Powderly v. the Irish National Union of Vintners and Allied Trades Assistants.

Mr. Dickie, K.C., and Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Mr. S. O hUadhaigh) were for the plaintiff; and Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. Maguire (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor) for defendants.

In stating the case for the plaintiff, Mr. Dickie said that the application was for an injunction to restrain the defendants from acting upon or enforcing a resolution of the Dublin branch of the union of 22nd July and a resolution of the Executive of 22nd August, excluding the plaintiff from membership of the union; and also an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with him in the matter of employment or alleging that he was expelled from the union. Counsel read an affidavit made by the plaintiff, in the course of which it was stated that the resolution expelling him was ultra vires. He had been employed as manager in the establishment of Mr. P. Conway, 70 Parnell street. In July last some members of the union came to the premises and alleged that plaintiff was working after 9.30 p.m. The plaintiff denied this, and said that the staff had gone away, and that he was merely counting the money, as it was his duty to do in the absence of his employer, who was away on holidays. The Dublin branch, he further said, proceeded to expel him from membership, and he was denied the right of giving evidence on his own behalf. The union notified his employer of the expulsion, and stated that he should be replaced by union labour. The plaintiff refused to leave his employment, and claimed that he was still a member of the union and entitled to the benefits of membership. Counsel mentioned that an interlocutory injunction had been granted by Mr. Justice Pim.

In the course of an affidavit by Mr. E. Cooney, president of the union, it was stated that the plaintiff was not expelled by the Dublin branch, but in pursuance of a resolution of the Executive Committee, after investigation, when he was found to be acting contrary to the objects of the union, and working after 9.30 p.m.

Counsel submitted that the original expulsion was by the Branch Committee, and was absolutely illegal. The plaintiff never heard the accusation made against him. Before expulsion there should be something definite against a man and a definite rule, but there was no definite rule that plaintiff was not to work after 9.30 o'clock.

Mr. Lynch, on behalf of the defendants, said that they were not relying on anything done by the branch, but on what was done by the Executive. The plaintiff got notice of the complaint against him, and he attended and admitted that he had disregarded the rule they had made that the assistants and members should not serve in the shops after 9.30.

The Lord Chief Justice—If you expel him how can you order him to leave Mr. Conway's employment; how do you justify that?

Mr. Lynch—That is a matter that would not be actionable if it arises under a trade dispute.

Mr. Dickie—Indeed it would.

The Lord Chief Justice remarked that that was one of the difficulties he had. There was no trade dispute at the time with Mr. Conway.

Mr. Lynch said that there was, ever since the night when this man was found working after 9.30. The matter, counsel submitted, was one of gravity, and could not be disposed of on an interlocutory application. A great many of the matters were in controversy. Further, the plaintiff was bound by the decision of his own tribunal, to which he appealed.

Mr. Maguire, on the same side, said that if the interlocutory injunction was granted it might result in a strike of the assistants all over the country.

Mr. Vincent Rice (instructed by Mr. Thomas Davy), intervening, said that he appeared on behalf of Mr. Conway and wished to give an explanation.

The Lord Chief Justice said that he could not hear Mr. Rice under the circumstances.

Mr. Dickie said that whether his client was rightly expelled or not, the Union had no right to write to his employers to clear the man out. He had a right to an injunction restraining them from interfering with his employment or from directing that he should not work for Mr. Conway or anyone else.

The Lord Chief Justice, in giving his decision, said that the question was whether the Executive Committee in the circumstances had power to expel. It was alleged that there was a rule against working after 9.30 o'clock, and, on the other hand, it was alleged that the rule was not of such a definite character as it ought to be. There was a question as to whether, if the Executive Committee was only hearing an appeal, they could turn an appeal from a branch committee into a notice requiring them to exercise their general jurisdiction under the rules. He would not feel at liberty to grant an interlocutory injunction in respect of the actual expulsion. He did not wish to express an opinion as to whether the investigation by the Committee was such an investigation as would justify expulsion of a member. He had formed no opinion on that and did not feel at liberty to grant an interlocutory injunction on that part. The resolution, however, went on ordering the plaintiff to leave Mr. Conway's employment. There was not, in his opinion, any justification for that, or any power in the Committee. He would give an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the plaintiff in his present or any other employment, the injunction to continue until the trial of the action or further order.

ACTION AGAINST DONEGAL MERCHANT.

Mr. Martin Maguire (instructed by Mr. Charles McCormack) applied on behalf of Catherine Doherty, of Bree Cross-roads, Mallin, Co. Donegal, grocer, for final judgment for the sum of £139 10s. 4d. against the defendant William Quigley, a merchant, residing at Malin, Co. Donegal, being the amount due for goods sold and delivered by the plaintiff to the defendant. The plaintiff in her affidavit, stated that on the account between the parties a balance of £139 10s. 4d. was due, and sought to recover judgment for that amount. An appearance had been entered on behalf of the defendant which, it was stated, was solely for the purpose of delay.

The Lord Chief Justice made the order sought.

DAIL EIREANN COURTS

SALE OF A CLARE ESTATE.

In the Dail Eireann Courts (Winding-Up) Commission yesterday, before Messrs. J. Creed Meredith (Chairman), D. Crowley, and Lieutenant L. Devitt, Commissioners, in Court No. 1, Dublin Castle, in the case of Tuckey v. Enright,

Mr. Serjeant Hanna, with whom was Mr. Costello (instructed by Messrs. Taylor, Son and Robinson), applied on behalf of the plaintiff, Mrs. Elizabeth Tuckey, 4 Kildare place, Dublin, to fix the time and mode of trial. It was, said counsel, a very important action, involving a sum of £5,000. It was tried in March, 1922, by Mr. Clery, and arose in connection with the sale by Mrs. Tuckey of a mansion house and estate near Ennis, Co. Clare, to a well-known local gentleman named Enright. The action was brought in the district court before Mr. Clery, and dismissed after a long hearing. The dismiss had not been registered, but plaintiff served notice of appeal. Counsel presumed that under the circumstances they had the widest power as to rehearing, and accordingly they came before the court to have the time and mode of trial fixed. It appeared that it was understood that the hearing was fixed for that day. There was a definite understanding that the case was to be reheard on the 5th August. Mr. Comyn applied to the court to have the case heard before one Commissioner, but he (Serjeant Hanna) thought that that was done under a misapprehension, as his side had not been heard.

The Chairman said that the Commissioners were of opinion that if there were to be a re-hearing it should be in Ennis.

Serjeant Hanna said that Mrs. Tuckey resided in Dublin, and the principal witness, Mr. Peart, solicitor, lived in Dublin, so that the balance of convenience was in favour of the case being heard here. He wanted to have it heard in Dublin at an early date. The lands had been derelict for two years, and he thought that they should have evidence supplemental to that heard at the first trial given by Mrs. Tuckey, and by Mr. Peart, who was not examined the last time.

Mr. James Comyn (instructed by Mr. M. J. Macnamara) for the defendant, said that Mr. Michael Comyn, K.C., was familiar with the case, and he asked the court to do nothing definite until Mr. Comyn, K.C., was heard by the Commissioners. He now applied to have the case put in the list to be mentioned on Wednesday next, when Mr. Comyn, K.C., would be present.

The Commissioners directed that the case be put in the list for mention on Thursday, the 20th inst., and that if the venue of the trial decided on be Dublin the hearing should take place on the 27th inst.

COST OF A CIVIL BILL.

A point of procedure arose on a motion in reference to an action in which the plaintiff was Daniel Potter, traveller, of Ailesbury Gardens, Dublin, and the defendants were Legg Bros., Ltd., Grenville street.

Mr. O hUadhaigh, solicitor for the plaintiff, moved for an order for payment by the defendants to the plaintiff of the costs of, and incidental to, an equity civil bill in the North Dublin City District Court. He stated that a civil bill was originally brought in the District Court for damages for wrongful dismissal of the plaintiff, and for an account of commission due to him on foot of a continuing agency and other relief. The civil bill was duly set down and an affidavit filed. Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan were to appear for the defendants, and the case was awaiting a circuit sitting of the Court when the Dail Courts were suspended. Subsequently, on the instructions of the plaintiff, he instituted an equity civil bill in the Recorder's Court, which was practically a copy of the bill brought in the District Court. The Recorder dismissed the civil bill without prejudice, deciding that he had no jurisdiction.

A writ was then issued in the King's Bench and remitted to the Recorder on application by the defendants. The Recorder heard the case and dismissed it on the merits. An appeal was dismissed by Mr. Justice Samuels, who, however, agreed to state a case. The Court of Appeal sent the case back to Mr. Justice Samuels, and it was ultimately decided on the merits in favour of the plaintiff, who was awarded £16 damages and full costs in the Recorder's Court, King's Bench, and Court of Appeal. He (Mr. O hUadhaigh) therefore submitted that he was entitled to the costs entailed in bringing the case originally before the District Court. Something against which he was as powerless as if it had been an act of God had prevented him from going on with the case before the District Court.

The Chairman (Mr. Creed Meredith) said that the case must be dealt with as a pending one or discontinued.

A representative of Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan stated that all the proceedings had been carried on in the other Courts, and all the costs in those Courts had been paid.

Commissioner Crowley said that, morally speaking, the plaintiff might be entitled to costs, but they had no power to give them as far as he could see.

Mr. O hUadhaigh said that, in view of the expression of opinion of the Court, he asked them to stay the pending proceedings in the District Court and make no order as to costs.

The application was granted.

The representative of Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan having applied for costs, the Chairman stated that the Court refused costs. The case was a pending one, and would have to be put in the list to be dealt with.

ESTATE DUTY APPEAL.

Before Mr. George Hewson, Referee.

In the matter of John Coghlan, deceased. This was an appeal by deceased's successor against the value, £11,400, placed by the Revenue Commissioners on a farm known as Barnagreggaun, County Mayo, containing 390 acres, held in fee-simple, subject to a Land Commission annuity of £120. The farm passed on deceased's death on 25th October, 1919, and the appellant's estimate of value as of that date was £4,000. The farm was sold in April, 1921, for £11,400, and the Revenue Commissioners fixed the price of the farm at that sum on the basis of the sale.

The referee gave his decision and fixed the price at £9,000; no costs to either side.

Mr. James Cowan and Mr. Patrick Kileen, valuers, gave evidence as to value on behalf of the appellant; and Mr. James McAuley, F.S.I., gave evidence as to value on behalf of the Revenue Commissioners.

Mr. A. E. Wood, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Bourke and Carrigg, solicitors), appeared for the appellant; Mr. B. Collins, of the Revenue solicitor's office, appeared for the Commissioners.

KILLED BY SHUNTING WAGON.

Joseph McPherson, of Nelson street, Bellshill, near Glasgow, was instantaneously killed on Tuesday night while out with his sweetheart, and she had a narrow escape. The couple were walking along a railway track leading to Rosehall Colliery, when they were overtaken by a wagon which had been shunted. McPherson, perceiving the danger, though in darkness, pushed the girl out of the way, but was himself caught between the wagon and a stationary vehicle, and killed.

BALLYBAY ELECTION SHOOTING.—Informations were refused at Ballybay District Court on Tuesday in the charges brought against L. Reilly and Thomas Sherry, Dooshamlet, in connection with the shooting of John F. Conlon at Ballybay on August 29 during election celebrations. Evidence was given that the assembly at Ballybay that morning was an orderly one, composed of respectable people. There was no ill-feeling between the defendants and the deceased man. In releasing the defendants the magistrate said that death occurred through negligence, and while not reflecting on the defendants he issued a solemn warning against the use of firearms on such occasions.

The death has taken place at Cornfield, Ballinasloe, of Mr. James Cooke, one of the largest stockmasters in the West of Ireland.

Postal officials at Cork yesterday opened a suspicious looking parcel, and found that it contained the body of an infant. The parcel had been posted in London to an address in West Cork.

LESS UNEMPLOYMENT.—At the monthly meeting of the Lurgan Local Employment Committee, it was reported that the number of persons totally unemployed was 515, a decrease of 501 on the June returns, and a decrease during the year of 2,251. The secretary reported that this large decrease was due principally to the fact that since the Committee had been established 1,842 vacancies had been notified to the Exchange. In addition, statutory disqualification had been imposed on claims in respect of 500 applicants who had refused suitable employment, and in 97 other cases after investigation. The Committee commented on the satisfactory state of the employment situation generally.

The hen lays eggs, but has a cock's plumage, a cock's comb, crows lustily like a cock, and cannot cackle.

SALE OF PEDIGREE SHEEP IN DUBLIN.

HIGH PRICES AND BRISK COMPETITION.

The second sale by the Irish Pedigree Sheep Breeders' Association was held by Messrs. Gavin Low, auctioneers, on their premises, Prussia street, Dublin, yesterday, under much more pleasing circumstances than on the last day, when, owing to torrential rain, the sale had to take place under cover.

There was a good attendance, and competition was keen. Prices ruled high, especially for Border Leicesters from Mr. M. H. Franks' old-established flock, which averaged over 16¼ guineas. The highest purchasers were Lord Crofton and Mr. McQuillan, at 18½ gns. This was the highest individual price at the sale. Lord Fitzwilliam's Border Leicesters also sold well, the highest price being 15 gns.

Suffolks were the next highest in price, but more numerous, and the demand was very keen. Mr. J. McS. M'Culloch, Gerrardstown, Donabate, made the highest price at 15½ gns., and the best average at 12¼ gns. Mr. H. S. Gill, Naas, made a top price of 14 gns., and an average of 12. Mr. F. Barbour, Trim, made an average of 10¼ gns., with a top price of 10½ gns., paid by Mr. Ganly. Mr. Dease's three ram lambs made 11 gns. each.

In the Oxford Downs, the highest individual price was 17 gns., paid by Mr. Corcoran, for a sheep from the Athenry Agricultural Station. The average was 14¼ gns. Mr. Robert Downes, Mullingar, with his flock made a top price of 16 gns. to Lord Crofton. His average was 10¼ gns.

The Shropshires were not so numerous as usual, but Colonel R. C. Charteris, Cahir, made an average of 12 gns. The top price was 15 gns. (twice). Mr. Millin bought the 15 gns. ram for his Northern flock, and Colonel Sir R. T. Everard had some nice sheep of this breed, which made up to 11½ gns. His average was 8½ gns.

Taking the sale all round, it was a great success, and both breeders and buyers were well satisfied with the result.

PEDIGREE CATTLE.

COOKSTOWN SHORTHORN SALE.

The annual sale of pedigree female shorthorns, under the auspices of the Mid-Ulster Shorthorn Breeders' Association, took place at Cookstown yesterday. There were 187 entries, almost all of which went into the ring. The entries were less than last year, as late entries were refused, and the supply was greater than the demand, many being unsold.

A considerable number of cows went at butchers' prices, and aged cows, in bad condition, were unsaleable, in spite of long pedigrees. For the younger cattle, however, decent prices were obtainable.

There was a good attendance of buyers, including a number from Scotland, who picked up the choicest animals. No sensational prices were paid. The auctioneer was Mr. Harry Frazer, of Messrs. MacDonald, Frazer, and Co., Perth.

ROSCOMMON SHOW.

FALLING OFF IN ENTRIES.

The County Roscommon Agricultural Show was held in the sports ground in the town of Roscommon yesterday, the Harrison Hall being set apart for the Flower and Cookery Sections. While the entries all over showed some falling-off from last year, there was no lack of quality in the various classes.

In the class for best half-bred horse in the Show, the silver cup presented by Mrs. Mills McDonnell, Ballygalda, went to Miss H. Flanagan, Tramona, who also took first prize for the best trained hunter. In the brood mare draft type class, P. J. Mulligan, Munsboro', took first prize. He also secured second prize for the best four-year-old animal likely to make a trooper, and second for the best foal. John Noone, Lisgobbin, took first prize for an Irish draft mare, and James O'Dowd, Carnalasson, first prize for the best trooper or hunter. Charles Whyte, Emlaghmore, took first prize for the best three-year-old likely to make a hunter or trooper.

HIBERNIAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Hibernian Bible Society was held at 20 Lincoln place, Dublin, on Tuesday last. Present:—Mr. Richard Hinde (presiding), Rev. W. R. Budd, Rev. J. J. Macaulay, B.A.; Rev. D. H. Hall, B.D.; Mr. W. Houghton Fry, Mr. F. C. R. Creed, Mr. T. A. Bailey, Mr. Geo. P. Beater, C.E.; Mr. T. Talbot, I.S.O.; and Mr. O. Wallace. The Rev. F. Cecil Long, M.A., was in attendance. Apologies for absence were received from the Right Hon. Lord Kilmaine and Mr. Ireton P. Jones. The minutes were confirmed.

It was resolved:—"That the Committee have heard with deep regret of the death of the Rev. E. M. Griffin, B.D., their senior Hon. Secretary. They desire to place on record their sense of the great loss thus sustained. After serving as Deputation Secretary, Mr. Griffin had been a member of the Committee for over twenty-four years, and by his unsparing devotion and wise counsel he did much to promote the interests of this cause. He was well versed in all the regulations in regard to the distribution of the Scriptures, and, while sympathetic towards every reasonable appeal, he was faithful in guarding the interests of the Society. While health and strength permitted he was constant and diligent in his attendance at the various committees, and in these his presence will be much missed. The Committee tender to Mrs. Griffin and family their warm sympathy in their sore bereavement, and pray that they may be divinely sustained and comforted."

A cheque for £50 was received from Messrs. Exham and Sons, solicitors, Cork, being the final balance of the legacy of Miss Jane Wherland.

The Deputation Secretary reported that during the months of July and August 29 sermons had been preached and four meetings addressed.

Applications for grants were read and considered, and 5,807 Bibles, New Testaments and portions were granted free and at reduced prices for schools, prizes, colportage, etc. Cheques were drawn to pay accounts as audited, and a contribution of £250 was forwarded to the British and Foreign Bible Society. The issues from the Depôt, 20 Lincoln place, for the five months ended August have been 25,923 copies of the Scriptures.

Contributions in aid of the work at home and abroad will be thankfully received at 20 Lincoln place, Dublin.

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday.—The further decline in Winnipeg and Chicago caused speculative positions of WHEAT here to give way to a liberal extent at the outset, then a partial recovery followed, but with the improvement in sterling exchange and less inquiry values again receded, and finished at the worst point, afternoon cables failing to lend encouragement. PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday. — BACON—Irish and Canadian bacon remain nominal through extreme scarcity; Danish is pressed for sale at irregular prices, as low as 116/- per cwt. being quoted, and even less said to have been taken. Other selections rule quietly steady at late rates, with Cumberlands reported fairly active. HAMS steady on the whole, with a moderate inquiry, chiefly for short cut. Shoulders steady for squares, which are not plentiful, but picnics quiet at the recent decline. LARD on the spot, in sympathy with easier c.i.f. rates, is offered at 6d. less money. Prime steam quoted 69/6 to 70/6, and American refined 72/- to 73/6, but only a moderate business reported. Small Pill—Small Dose—Small Price

TO THE DEAF PUBLIC

NOTE.—This space is reserved for a communication of direct interest and practical importance to all deaf people contributed by Mr. R. H. Dent, the originator of the "ACOUSTIQUE" Way to Hearing.

During the recent BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MEETING at Portsmouth I received an urgent request from Doctors engaged in Hospital practice for a less expensive type of "ACOUSTIQUE" to meet the needs of patients whose means are limited.

It was stated that if a modified type of "ACOUSTIQUE" possessing all the vital principles of the original aid was available it would remove the serious risk of disappointment incurred by resort to the various "cheap" appliances so freely offered to the public.

The outcome is that I have added some new types of "ACOUSTIQUE" ranging in price from as little as

3½ GUINEAS

These types embody all the exclusive "ACOUSTIQUE" principles and have received the unqualified approval of the profession, who have little doubt that the widespread demand will amply justify the initial difficulties which I have so successfully overcome.

Some Exclusive 'ACOUSTIQUE' features:

1. "ACOUSTIQUE" is fitted INDIVIDUALLY FROM 20 DISTINCT TYPES TO CORRECT YOUR DEFECT.
2. "ACOUSTIQUE" is adapted as a STETHOSCOPE for the use of DEAF DOCTORS in practice.
3. "ACOUSTIQUE" removes nerve-strain and thus helps, conserves and improves the auditory system.
4. "ACOUSTIQUE" gives "NATURAL" Hearing of speech and music (it is not made of tin or vulcanite, so is not tinny or gramophonic, nor is it easily breakable) a fact endorsed by Doctors.
5. "ACOUSTIQUE" NON-HEAD ATTACHMENT renders it as inconspicuous in use as rimless glasses.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1923.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

At a meeting of the Dublin Guardians yesterday it was stated that, owing to a strike in Dublin, it was not possible to get supplies of medicine for the hospital from the contractors.

The validity of the Irish Society's title to the Lough Foyle fishery rights has been challenged in a fishery prosecution at Moville, Co. Donegal. The hearing of the case was adjourned.

The Very Rev. H. P. Glenn, ex-Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland, died yesterday at the Manse, Bray.

GREAT BRITAIN.

At the opening of the British Association's annual meeting in Liverpool yesterday, Sir Ernest Rutherford, the President, gave an address on "The Electrical Structure of Matter."

ABROAD

The Prince of Wales arrived in Quebec yesterday on his way to his ranch at Alberta.

Germany offers to negotiate with France for the restoration of the Ruhr. The Chancellor admits that passive resistance will not avail, and offers to give France mortgages on a percentage of all private property in the Reich.

In a speech to the Italian Cabinet yesterday, Signor Mussolini claims that his firm stand "prevented" the intervention of the League of Nations in the Italo-Greek dispute.

It is understood that the Ambassadors' Conference intends to ask Signor Mussolini to state when Corfu will be evacuated.

SPORTING.

At Doncaster yesterday, Lord Derby's Tranquil won the St. Leger Stakes, Papyrus being second, and Teresina third.

Dr. Stresemann's Offer.

In these days of "shirt sleeve" diplomacy, while men of the type of Signor Mussolini are riding roughshod over the political traditions of centuries, the speeches of statesmen create very little interest in Europe. Both the French and the Italian Prime Ministers have accustomed the nations to expect deeds rather than words in time of international tension, and the new methods of the Quai d'Orsay and the Palazzo Chigi have elbowed the older and less spectacular methods of diplomacy out of the way. Nevertheless, the speech which was delivered last evening in Berlin by the German Chancellor was awaited with eager anticipation by all those who take an interest in European affairs. Since the fall of the Cuno Government, and the assumption of power by Dr. Stresemann, events have been moving rapidly in Germany. With the exception of the "Die-Hards" of the extreme Right all parties have been coming to the conclusion that Germany can gain nothing by the pursuit of a purely negative policy in regard to the Ruhr Valley. All the cards are in M. Poincaré's hand; and while the continuance of passive resistance may serve as a useful example of German solidarity before the eyes of the world, it is bringing no material gain to the Fatherland. Realpolitik, therefore, has been coming into its own again. Sentimental considerations have yielded to more practical ideas, and Dr. Stresemann, for the past few weeks, has been working hard to find some honourable way of coming to terms with the French. During the last few days the French Ambassador in Berlin has been a regular visitor at the Wilhelmstrasse. The Berlin Press has been hinting broadly at an approaching "settlement," and the Vossische Zeitung, which is one of the most level-headed newspapers in Berlin, has stated quite frankly that some arrangement must be made with France.

Dr. Stresemann's speech, obviously, is meant to pave the way for such an agreement. His review of the economic and financial position of Germany reveals a really disastrous condition of affairs. The continued collapse of the mark has brought utter ruin on thousands, if not, indeed, millions, of Germans. It has damaged the whole fabric of the national economy; and the bankruptcy of a city like Leipzig, formerly one of the most prosperous centres in Europe, is only a symptom of the financial canker which is eating into the nation's heart. We are glad that the German Chancellor refused to encourage popular illusions, and that he told his audience the plain, unvarnished truth. In the first place, Germany's economic and financial plight is a direct result of the struggle in the Ruhr Valley. It is true that the country was suffering considerably before M. Poincaré sent his soldiers to Essen; but the real disaster of the mark did not begin until the Ruhr had been isolated from the rest of Germany. As Dr. Stresemann said, the financial problem cannot be settled until the political problem has been solved. While the French are in the Ruhr the mark never can be stabilised, and the vanishing trade of the Fatherland never can be restored. In the next place, passive resistance, by itself, will not secure the end in view. The Germans have been fighting a losing battle from the very outset. All the odds in the Ruhr were against them; and while their passive resistance was a really remarkable feat of endurance, its indefinite continuance could lead in the long run only to Germany's—and, incidentally, to France's—absolute ruin.

The suggestions which Dr. Stresemann throws out constitute a basis on which a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of the whole dispute can be built. He states clearly that he is prepared to negotiate with the French, and does not insist, as Dr. Cuno insisted, that nothing can be done until after the evacuation of the Ruhr Valley. His one condition—and it is a condition with which all right-minded men must agree—is that there can be no question about German sovereignty in the Rhineland or about the complete restoration of the Ruhr. In return for these two objects, Dr. Stresemann says that Germany is ready to give "real guarantees." He proposes the direct enlistment of private property by the German Government to satisfy the demands of M. Poincaré for "productive pledges." Already, he says, the Treaty of Versailles gives the Allies a mortgage on all the property of the Reich, as well as on that of the individual States; but, as the French discovered in the Ruhr, these "pledges" cannot be turned into hard cash at present. The "pledges" which he now offers to France, on the other hand, will be "realisable" immediately, and, therefore, ought to appeal to the practical mind of M. Poincaré. Apparently, the German Government will take a mortgage of a certain percentage on all private property in the country, and will hand it over to the Allies, who will be able to use it as a negotiable asset without further delay. In its present form the offer is not sufficiently well defined to be accepted off-hand; but, obviously, it is a sincere attempt to placate France, and deserves the most careful consideration.

The British Association.

An English newspaper rather happily describes the British Association's meetings as an "annual stocktaking of science." The most conspicuous feature of the occasion is, of course, the Presidential address, which was delivered last night by Sir Ernest Rutherford, and dealt with the "Electric Structure of Matter." Possibly, we are to-day at the zenith of the physicist's Golden Age, but it is equally possible that we are only on the threshold of an era in which physics will become more and more the stimulating factor in the development of the world's material civilisation. In the electrical structure of matter we find confronting the world of science a series of problems which represent not, indeed, the culmination of modern discoveries in the realms of physics, but the farthest North, as it were, of the investigator's progress. Ordinary folk hear with astonishment that at the centre of an atom of uranium is a minute nucleus around which ninety-two electrons whirl in orbits, roughly corresponding to those of planets round their central sun, and that the innermost of these electrons have a speed of 150,000 kilometres a second. Their interest, however, is really aroused when they are told in what precise direction in relation to themselves all these discoveries are tending. The practical possibility towards which the investigation of the electrical structure of matter tends to look is the possible release of unimaginable stores of energy by the disintegration of atomic nuclei. We are told that the disintegration of one gramme of radium will release several million times the energy released by the combustion of a gramme of coal. How, the unscientific man asks, can these invisible vortices of inconceivable energy be harnessed to the chariot wheels of human industry? To this question Sir Ernest Rutherford has no assuring reply. The integration of the atom has taken thousands of millions of years. There is nothing to suggest that any laboratory process can unscramble nature's eggs at a higher rate of speed. Therefore, it seems that the Physicist's laborious studies of the electrical structure of matter may not, after all, boil our kettles or improve our crops. Science cares for none of these things, but labours to tend the tree of knowledge wisely and surely. Some day or another day the tree will bear fruit, and the gardener will be pronounced worthy of his hire.

Mosquitoes.

The members of a recent expedition in search of gold in Labrador found that the greatest trouble they experienced while prospecting was caused by mosquitoes. There can be but little doubt that the mosquito is one of the most powerful guardians of nature in existence. Man can, and does, overcome most natural obstacles; but, without going to almost endless trouble and expense, he is unable to deal effectively with mosquitoes, "present in clouds," as they are said to have been on this occasion. Although the anopheles—the malaria-carrying mosquitoes—are, fortunately, not so universal as the ordinary mosquitoes, the latter, as any soldier who has seen service in the East can testify, can be unpleasant in the highest degree. To the mosquito every man is fair game; the native is no more immune than the white man; while, on the other hand, the mosquito will recognise a white man as his—or, to be exact, her, for only the females bite—prey in a district where no white man has been before. The French were beaten in their Panama Canal scheme by the mosquitoes; the United States Government only brought the scheme to a successful conclusion by exterminating all the mosquitoes in the area. It is on account of these pests that Alaska has not been "opened up" to the limits of its resources. Alaska is one of the richest districts on the face of the globe: it is only possible to guess the value of its minerals. Until, however, the mosquitoes have been eliminated from Alaska, this wealth will not be realised in the full.

Dublin's Dirt.

Although the official "Summer Time" does not end until Sunday morning next, there is not much of summer about the weather now. Autumn is upon us, and it is the custom of autumn to give place to winter all too soon. It is to be hoped that, before we are well into winter, the authorities will do something to improve the evil condition of the Dublin streets. Where cleanliness is concerned, Dublin always has been supposed to hold an unenviable reputation; and we fear that this reputation has been earned only too well. We cannot in reason blame our municipal authorities if the rain falls upon our heads, but we can, and do, blame them if in most of the streets in the city there are hollows, small and huge, where the rain collects into filthy puddles. It is only with extreme difficulty that the pedestrian can cross a Dublin street in wet weather, and yet keep himself moderately clean. Even on the pavement he is not safe, for, however slowly the traffic passes, there are showers of mud. The motorist is, indeed, the only man who can go abroad in moderate comfort. To the cyclist the bumpy streets are agonising. We should like, also, to know whether the pavement—or, rather, the lack of pavement—at the corner of Nassau street and Grafton street is to remain as it is until the end of time. The Irish Free State has been admitted into the League of Nations, and has, therefore, been recognised as a State of importance by other countries. We appeal to the Dublin Corporation to maintain the dignity of its capital city.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The Lord and Lady Blythswood, Miss Viola Meeking, and Mr. Herbert Johnson had the honour of dining with the King and Queen last evening at Balmoral Castle.

The Marchioness of Carisbrooke has arrived at Mar Lodge on a visit to the Princess Royal and Princess Maud, whose guests this week include the Countess of Londesborough and Lord Carnegie. They all accompanied the Princesses to Balmoral Castle on Tuesday evening, when they dined with the King and Queen, and were present later at the annual ball given for the tenants, gillies, and servants of the Balmoral, Abergeldie, and Birkhall estates.

Princess Beatrice is spending the autumn at Carisbrooke Castle, in the Isle of Wight, where the Marquis and Marchioness of Carisbrooke were her guests recently. The Dowager Countess of Minto is spending a few days with her this week.

The rumour is again gaining ground of an engagement between the Crown Prince of Italy and Princess Marie José, the only daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians. No contradiction has been published, and it is expected that an official announcement will be made in a few days confirming the report.

The Duke of Connaught visited Aldershot on Tuesday morning, and reviewed the 2nd Battalion of the Rifle Brigade, under the command of Lieutenant-General Sir Henry F. Maitland Wilson, which has just returned from Turkey. The Duke, as Colonel-in-Chief of the Brigade, took the salute, and later delivered a short but inspiriting address, in which he complimented the battalion on their smart appearance on parade.

The Anglo-Swedish Society in London are organising a reception in honour of the Crown Prince of Sweden and Lady Louise Mountbatten, who have accepted the Society's invitation. The entertainment is fixed for next Tuesday, and will be held in Prince's Galleries, Piccadilly. A large attendance of guests is expected.

The Duke and Duchess of Wellington, after a long stay at Apsley House, have left London for Ewhurst Park, their country seat near Basingstoke. The Earl of Cromer arrived yesterday in London, but is leaving to-morrow for the Highlands. Sir Felix and Lady Helen Cassel have returned from Aix-les-Bains, and the latter has now left for a round of visits in Scotland. Viscountess Maitland, who will spend part of the autumn in America, is staying with the Earl and Countess of Lauderdale at Thirlestane Castle. Viscount Maitland has returned to London.

* * *

Viscountess Gough, who has been staying with the Countess of Longford at Pakenham Hall, has returned to her London residence. The Earl of Ranfurly is at his house in Lennox Gardens, S.W., where the Countess of Ranfurly will join him next week on her return from the country. The Earl and Countess of Wemyss are entertaining a large house party at Stanway, their seat in Gloucestershire.

Lady Howard de Walden adjudicated at the Baby Show at the fête in aid of Wrexham Hospital, which, by permission of Lord Howard de Walden, was held in the grounds of Chirk Castle on Tuesday. Lord and Lady Howard de Walden's twin son and daughter and their younger daughters were present, and attracted much admiration.

FREE STATE CIVIL SERVICE.

COMMISSION IN WORKING ORDER.

It was ascertained yesterday that the Irish Free State Civil Service Commission, which has been set up under the Civil Service Regulation Act, 1923, is now in working order. The Act was passed on the 8th of August, but the Commission itself was not actually appointed until ten days ago. The Act provides that the Commission shall consist of not more than three persons. These are Mr. Michael Hayes, Speaker of Dail Eireann; Mr. J. O'Neill, of the Ministry of Education, and a representative of the Ministry of Finance. Mr. C. J. Gregg represents the Finance Department. Mr. T. A. Murphy, B.A., has been acting as Secretary to the Commission.

The Commission has already carried out one examination for 50 places in the Customs and Excise, confined to Army candidates. It took place in various centres throughout the Free State, and it is hoped to announce the results very soon.

Another examination has been announced for County Surveyors. It is to be a test of qualification only, the question of appointment being for the County Councils, and it will take place on the 20th inst. in Dublin.

Several other examinations are under consideration, and will be announced shortly.

ILLNESS OF LORD BEARSTED.

Lord Bearsted is confined to his room, at his London residence, with a severe attack of sciatica, and will not be able to take part in public affairs for some time.

SIR A. STEEL MAITLAND.

The knee-cap operation which Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland underwent, following his recent accident, has been entirely successful, so far as can be judged at present. Sir Arthur hopes to be able to be moved at the end of the week from the nursing home in Edinburgh to his home at Sauchieburn, Stirling, where he will remain until he is able to get about again. This will not be for at least five or six weeks.

DUBLIN MUNICIPAL GALLERY.

At a meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Municipal Gallery of Modern Art on Tuesday, a portrait of Isaac Butt, Q.C., by Charles Russell, R.H.A. (presented by the Governor-General of the Irish Free State to the Right Hon. Thomas L. O'Shaughnessy, K.C., Recorder of Dublin, 1923), was accepted on loan. Two landscapes by Alfred Grey, R.H.A. (the property of Councillor Briscoe), were recommended for acceptance on loan. The Curator reported the visit to the Gallery of Mrs. P. M. Thomas, Curator of the Michaelis Gallery of 17th Century Dutch Pictures, Cape Town, collected by the late Sir Hugh Lane in 1913.

GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK.

(BY RICHARD O'BRIEN.)

My grandfather's clock was too tall for the shelf,
So it stood ninety years on the floor
It was taller by far than the old man himself,
Though it weighed not a penny-weight more.
(Old Song).

THE grandfather's clock, one of the symbols of respectability of the past, has died lingeringly, and it is only here and there, in old-world homes, that specimens of the massive chronicler of the fleeting moments may be found.

Time was when the grandfather's clock occupied an important and prominent place in the furnishing menu, but that time is no more. The quaint piece of furniture may be said to have been killed by its own weight. Its ponderousness proved its undoing, and caused its relegation to the back page of the house-furnisher's catalogue.

In days gone by the old clock served a dual purpose. It ground out, in wheezy tones, and with painful deliberation, the passing hours, and was adjudged a prominent place in the halls of our grand-parents as a piece of solid ornamentation. Its large, open face stared at the visitor, and proclaimed to all and sundry that its owners were people worthy of consideration and respect.

Various causes contributed towards the banishment of the grandfather's clock, and, perhaps, the chief one was the vogue of the small house. In it economy of space was the first essential, and against this law, the old clock was a grave offender. For this reason alone it was doomed to pass into the realms of antiquity. The fancy marble clock, with its silvery chimes, helped also to send the grandfather's clock into the regions of past fashions. The bright-faced portable timekeeper was easy to wind, and in this way compared very favourably with the efforts required to keep the big clock going.

Middle-aged citizens will remember that the task of winding the grandfather's clock was one of some importance, and usually fell to the lot of the head of the house. Every eight days, armed with its substantial key, he undertook his herculean task. Two huge weights, one at either side, had to be steadily wound from the bottom to the top of the clock before the great time-keeper went on his next eight-day run. In those strenuous days the operation would be regarded in the light of a feat of patience and perseverance.

But although the modern world has pushed the old clock to one side, it is treasured by many who read round its history the romance of a past generation, and the happy hours of quieter days.

OBITUARY.

THE VERY REV H. P. GLENN.

We regret to announce the death of the Very Rev. Henry Patterson Glenn, B.A., of the Presbyterian Manse, Bray, which occurred there yesterday.

Mr. Glenn was born in 1858 in Indianopolis, the son of the late Mr. William Glenn, Cloneeven, Pembroke road, Dublin. He came to the United Kingdom at an early age, and was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, the Assembly College, Belfast, and the University of Edinburgh.

His first appointment in the Presbyterian ministry was as assistant to Dr. Black, in Inverness; subsequently he ministered in Tullamore. In 1892 he accepted the charge of Bray, which he held until his death.

In 1920 Mr. Glenn was elected Moderator of the General Assembly, and during his year of office gave general satisfaction. Other moderators, it has been said, may have been more learned or eloquent, but he will always be remembered as a practical worker. For some years he was a synodical convener of the Sustentation Fund, and one of the founders of the Presbyterian Historical Society, to which he presented valuable records of the early history of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. He did much, too, to forward the scheme by which the Presbyterian Association became possessed of its present headquarters in St. Stephen's Green, Dublin. He did much to forward the spiritual and material interests of Bray. The undenominational school which he organised in connection with the National Board proved a great educational benefit to the town.

DEAN SHINKWIN, CORK.

The death took place yesterday of the Right Rev. Dean Shinkwin, P.P., V.F., St. Patrick's, Cork, in his ninety-second year. For nearly half a century he was a well-known Churchman in the South of Ireland.

MR. JOHN E. L. WHITEHEAD.

The death occurred at Lowestoft yesterday morning of Mr. John Edleston Ledsam Whitehead, Town Clerk of Cambridge since 1887. He was in his 87th year. He took a keen interest in yachting.

MR. JOHN BREEDON EVERARD.

The death occurred at Leicester yesterday of Mr. John Breedon Everard, M.I.C.E., who was responsible for acquiring the water supply for Leicester from the Derwent Valley.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The depression in the North is moving away eastwards, and is likely to be followed before long by a new disturbance developing in the Atlantic. The latter depression may affect our Western coasts within the next twenty-four hours, but in other districts weather will be mainly fair.

Ireland. — Wind westerly to south-westerly, fresh; cloudy, perhaps some rain later; some coast mist; moderate temperature.

South-West Seaboard, Mouth of Channel to South-West Ireland. — Wind south-westerly, moderate, freshening later; sea moderate; cloudy, perhaps rain later; visibility deteriorating somewhat.

Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind westerly to south-westerly, light or moderate; cloudy, perhaps rain later; sea slight; visibility moderate.

North-West Seaboard, Northern Ireland to Hebrides.—Wind north-westerly, light or moderate; sea slight; fair, but local showers; visibility good.

LONDON LETTER.

THE MUSSOLINI TOUCH.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Signor Mussolini is certainly a rather disturbing factor in the world's peace at the moment, and there is much anxiety as to what will happen during the week-end. A prominent Italian here to-day, discussing the Italian Premier, admitted that Mussolini had saved Italy from Bolshevism, but added that the Fascisti movement succeeded because of the poverty in leadership shown by other parties. He said that there is now a weakening in Mussolini's position, simply because he has promised too much. Before the war Italy had one hundred and forty-six thousand railway employés. To-day there are two hundred and seventy-five thousand, while no man can obtain employment at the railways who is not a Fascist. This applies to many other industries. All will go well while Mussolini carries out the wishes of the people, but once he fails to do that nobody knows what will happen.

The Ruhr.

Evidently things are not going well in Paris with regard to the Ruhr negotiations, for it is reported to-day that a deadlock has been reached because France is not satisfied with the guarantees offered, and, in addition, demands that Germany should send an Ambassador to Paris. It is difficult, however, to separate the wheat from the chaff in the stories now coming from Paris and Berlin on this matter; but it does seem that negotiations have not been so far advanced as certain French and German propagandists would have the world believe. It is suggested to-day that these propagandists are carefully working in the interests of certain French and German industrial groups desiring a combination of their interests; and quite possibly this is correct.

M. Poincare.

M. Poincaré, it is understood, places far above any such private interests the complete vindication of his policy in the Ruhr, and requires the cessation of passive resistance and the acceptance by Germany of the local pledges given in the Ruhr under military protection. The German Chancellor seems to be unprepared at the moment to surrender so much, and it is not known how far he favours the unofficial negotiations between the French and German industrialists. He has very close associations with the German industrial magnates, and may be working through them to bring pressure upon M. Poincaré. In fact, he is in an extremely difficult position, for, though he may wish to come to terms with France, he knows that any set and formal surrender will bring down on his head the vengeance of the extremists, with the downfall of his Government, and possibly his assassination as well.

Leipzig Bankrupt.

The great, and once extremely wealthy, city of Leipzic has had to declare itself bankrupt, a fact which, probably, heralds many further announcements from other German cities in similar circumstances. For the past two years these German cities have been in a parlous state as regards finance, and in many cases the position was more desperate than that of the German Government. The trouble began during the war, when the buying and distribution of food supplies became a very heavy drain upon municipal resources. Once the war was over there began an era of cutting down their extensive powers of local taxation, the Government wanting all the resources available for its own use. Then they began to pile up debts, and these, with the continued fall in the mark, have at last overwhelmed them. German municipal finance of the future is a complete enigma, since the difficulty cannot be satisfactorily solved by the repudiation of debt.

Political Activity.

Activity in the political world will shortly be resumed, and many meetings will be held by various parties before the re-assembling of Parliament. Mr. Asquith will open a Liberal campaign at a meeting to be held at the National Liberal Club the week after next, and he will then go into the provinces to deliver speeches at Perth, Liverpool, Dewsbury, Walsall, and Manchester. Mr. Lloyd George, who is going to the United States, has set up a Rural Policy Committee among his followers, with Major-General Sir Robert Hutchison as its Chairman. This is with the idea of opening a new land policy, and a series of questions will be submitted to many farmers and agricultural labourers with the idea of getting some specially selected ammunition for a campaign when Mr. Lloyd George comes back from the United States with some new ideas. Labour generally is rather resting on its oars after the Plymouth Trade Union Congress, which is not altogether surprising. It will, however, conduct a campaign in the autumn on the inadequacy of the Government's proposals for the relief of unemployment.

The Government's Arrangements.

On the Government side, the Prime Minister will address a mass meeting at Plymouth on October 25, at the annual meeting of the National Unionist Association, while some further engagements are being arranged for him. Ministers will probably have very little time for speech making outside the Houses of Parliament during the early autumn, for, apart from a most complicated foreign situation, there is the Imperial Conference. It is said that the great fight at this Conference will be over Imperial Preference, and that the old protagonists of Tariff Reform are again brushing up their arguments for use.

Milk Prices.

After much bitter wrangling and dispute the price of milk on this side of the Irish Channel has been fixed, and the consumer will have to pay 7d. per quart up to the end of November, when the price will be increased to 8d. It seems extraordinary that in these days there should be in existence a trade organisation so complete as the milk combine. No vestige whatever is left of free competition. The public is simply told what it must pay, and, if it refuses to agree, it must go without. Lord Linlithgow's Committee a year ago reported that 8d. a quart was not justified, and since then prices have been falling in all directions, it seems that it is even less justifiable now. Cheap milk is essential for children, and 8d. a quart places milk out of the reach of many poor families.

The Combine.

A National Milk Conference is to be held at the City of London Guildhall on Wednesday, November 21, when the subject for discussion will be pasteurisation. The Chairman in the morning will be Lord Astor, and in the afternoon Lord Dawson of Penn. Papers will be read by experts on methods and processes of pasteurisation, physical changes, chemical changes, bacteriological changes, biochemical changes, and financial and commercial aspects.

AIR FORCE APPOINTMENT.

The Air Ministry announces that Sir I. L. B. Vesey has been appointed Air Vice-Marshal, on his appointment to a temporary commission in the Air Force, on being seconded from the Army, on appointment as Director of Organisation and Staff Duties.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE NOT ENOUGH.

DR. STRESEMANN'S ADMISSION.

OFFER OF MORTGAGES ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.

SOUND BASIS OF AGREEMENT.

Dr. Stresemann, the German Chancellor, declares frankly that the passive resistance policy in the Ruhr cannot succeed. The mark cannot be stabilised, or the country's trade restored, while the Ruhr remains isolated from the rest of Germany.

He says that he is willing to negotiate with France, and to offer practical guarantees in return for the restoration of the Rhineland and the evacuation of the Ruhr. These guarantees are to take the form of mortgages on a certain percentage of private property in the country, and will be immediately negotiable.

Our Correspondent in the Ruhr says that the workers there are able and willing to continue the fight, but see the political expediency of coming to an arrangement with France. In Germany itself, however, there are extremist elements bitterly opposed to an agreement.

Mr. Baldwin is expected to meet M. Poincaré in Paris to-morrow week.

FORCE CANNOT AVAIL.

NEGOTIABLE PLEDGES TO BUY RUHR FREEDOM.

BERLIN, Wednesday.

Herr Stresemann made his eagerly anticipated speech before representatives of the German Press this evening. He began with a statement on the economic and financial position of Germany, and then turned to foreign political questions.

He remarked that openness was better than illusion, and, therefore, he wished openly to say that without a solution of the foreign political dispute, the financial situation could not be settled, and the collapse of the mark could not be restrained.

The Government, from the first day of its assumption of authority, had undertaken the task to try and solve the Ruhr dispute. It was clear that this solution could not be achieved solely by a continuance of passive resistance. The question could not be settled by a policy of force.

Herr Cuno himself had never said that the negotiations about the reparations question could only be undertaken after the evacuation of the Ruhr territory. The object of passive resistance could only be to free Ruhr territory. The Government had acted on views taken from a similar standpoint, and it could do a great service if it could shorten the Ruhr dispute as far as possible, but the feelers hitherto put out showed the difficulties that were existing.

REAL GUARANTEES.

"For us," said the Chancellor, "the question of the sovereignty of the Rhineland and regaining the freedom of the Ruhr territory is decisive. For it we are ready to give real guarantees. The French Prime Minister, in a recent speech, said that he preferred the positive securities which France had in the bank to the finest theoretical rights. We did not intend to exchange pledges for general guarantees. He emphaised further that the guarantees which had been suggested belonged to the mortgages which the Treaty of Versailles gave to the Allies on the entire possessions of the Reich.

"This conception of the French Premier I must describe as erroneous. According to the Versailles Treaty the property of the Reich and individual States is a pledge for Germany's obligations. What I suggested referred to the direct enlistment ("Heranziehung") of private property, and thus goes in that respect beyond the Versailles Treaty. This enlistment of private property is also a realisable pledge while the securities of the Versailles Treaty are at present not so. If mortgages in favour of the Reich were entered into on the property of the State and on the private property of economic organisations as a pledge ("Peandrecht") to the extent of a per centage of this property, then these mortgages could be transferred to the trusteeship as a real negotiable asset.

"In the administration of that trusteeship, reparation creditors would actively participate. The proceeds accruing from these mortgages would be paid to trustees who would then be in a position to issue bonds. Thus, France would come into immediate possession of large sums of money, and the interest of these payments would be guaranteed.

PRACTICAL, NOT THEORETICAL.

"Surely such an accomplishment is not merely a piece of theory, or a general guarantee, but constitutes something real, and is free of all vagueness. Such guarantees will give France cash, and will meet the conditions under which France is willing to evacuate the Ruhr.

"Before these guarantees can be obtained, Germany must be permitted the right to administer the Ruhr and recover her sovereignty over the Rhineland. These guarantees are capable of solving the question of passive resistance, provided we are given assurance that on the basis of such an understanding the Ruhr will be evacuated and the Rhineland be given its former rights.

"If we are given the assurance that everyone whose home is in the Rhine and the Ruhr will be restored to his home, there will be no reason why this once prosperous productive area should not regain its former zest for work.

ALLIES' INTERESTS SERVED.

"I trust that such a settlement will be possible. France, through her Premier, has repeatedly declared that she does not contemplate annexation, and that she does not intend to remain in the Ruhr. Great Britain certainly concurs in this attitude. Belgium would undoubtedly welcome the restoration of normal economic conditions, and we are convinced that Italy shares the same views.

"The question for us is whether the German economic organism can carry the burden which is expected of it. We know in what difficulties we live, but I can state with satisfaction that the present Government has been assured by leading representatives of industry and finance that they would take their share of the obligations in connection with the scheme of guarantees proposed by Germany which will render payments possible. The possibility of an understanding with France depends upon whether a suitable atmosphere can be created between France and Germany, and understanding is certainly necessary."

The Chancellor then quoted at some length from correspondence which took place between German and French statesmen and generals after the war of 1870, in order to show Germany's generosity to her vanquished foes. "To-day it is Germany, under different circumstances, who is ready to bear the consequences of a lost war. She is now confronted by the France of to-day."

He expressed the hope that those in whose hands lies more than the fate of France, and on whose decisions the peace and security of Europe depend, may share the view that it is now necessary to secure peace by a policy of justice which is calculated to dispel national passions, and thus give a guarantee of lasting peace."—(Reuter.)

RUHR WORKERS' VIEWS.

READY TO CAPITULATE FOR POLITICAL REASONS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
DUSSELDORF, Wednesday.

French tactics in the Ruhr have achieved the desired end, according to one of the leading trade unionists of Germany interviewed here to-day. The statements of this man, who has talked intimately with the members of Herr Stresemann's Cabinet, dovetail neatly with the declarations made to me last week by a prominent Ruhr industrialist. The trade unionist, however, while regretting the proposed abandonment of passive resistance, spoke even more strongly of the volte face by Germany. Citing reasons, both economic and political, impelling Germany to this course, he declared that the political reasons were the more urgent. "Barring accidents," he said, "the Ruhr could hold out for months longer, perhaps through the winter, for Germany would send us potatoes and coal, which are our greatest necessities. Our moral is unbroken, and there is a chance that if we carried on we might win better terms when France found that she could not work our mines profitably.

"But there are other considerations that more than outbalance these. Lately I have noticed an increase in the efforts of the French to sever the Rhineland and the Ruhr politically from the Reich. The separatist attempts have been intensified, and the proclamation by the Rhineland Commission assuming the power to remove German officials virtually makes this region a vassal State.

"The longer the French remain in the Ruhr the greater danger there is of separation. Add to this the unemployment and the deplorable living conditions of the workmen throughout the Ruhr.

"We workers stand for the Wirth programme, and throughout the eight months of the occupation we have hoped that the capitalists would see eye to eye with us. Such appears now to be the case. Anyhow, we will exert all possible pressure upon both capitalists and the Berlin Government to bring about a satisfactory agreement with France. Despite Poincaré's speech, we believe that the French can clear the ground for an understanding between their Governments.

"In return for abandoning passive resistance we workers hope that the French will release political prisoners, repatriate deportees, return the railways to the old status, and guarantee the integrity of all German lands. These assurances might be conveyed by tacit, rather than formal, understandings between Paris and Berlin.

"Furthermore, the mark's sudden toboggan last week made living almost impossible for the miners who returned to work for German operators around Essen."

"Will you work extra hours if an agreement is reached with France?" the union leader was asked.

He hesitated to reply, for to the German workingman the eight-hour day, which was the fruit of the revolution, is jealously guarded. "If we were working for something definite," he said at length, "and if the principle of the eight-hour day remains intact."

INTERNAL DISSENSIONS.

STRONG ELEMENTS IN FAVOUR OF RESISTANCE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Wednesday.

There has been a pause in the so-called negotiations between the German Chancellor and the French Ambassador here. Dr. Stresemann, it seems, merely informed the Ambassador that the new German Cabinet is not bound by the policy which the Cuno Cabinet adopted in the Ruhr, and that if France really wants reparations and does not aim at Germany's disintegration, he and his Government are ready to do their utmost to provide them.

It is clear that, owing to a variety of reasons, financial, economic, physical and moral, a breakdown in the Ruhr passive resistance cannot now be long delayed; but, on the other hand, there is not the least likelihood of the present Cabinet officially calling off the Ruhr fight, thereby incurring the odium before the present day public opinion, of having betrayed the nation.

Even the opening of negotiations on the Ruhr and the reparations questions will not mean that Germany would at once pass into smoother waters. Many competent observers here, indeed, believe that Germany is at the beginning and not at the end of her real troubles. Throughout Bavaria reparations are being pushed forward to resist the French and the pusillanimous central Government alike, and even the Berlin "junker" newspapers openly call for the use of all methods of resistance, namely, open war against France, rather than the cessation of the struggle.

Dr. Stresemann, in his effort to satisfy France, has to take into consideration that factor, as well as the growing anger among the workers at the hourly increasing food prices.

FOLLY OF RESISTANCE.

ITALY'S EFFORT TO CONVINCE BERLIN.

ROME, Wednesday.

In the course of a speech at a meeting of the Cabinet to-day Signor Mussolini referred to the problem of reparations and the situation in the Ruhr.

"In former communications," he said, "I alluded to the possibility of a detente on the question of reparations and the Ruhr. This detente was particularly emphasised after the speech made by Dr. Stresemann at Stuttgart. I believe I can foretell the beginning of decisive pourparlers in the near future.

"It must not be thought, however, that the solution is easy or imminent on account of the nature and complexity of the obstacles and interests involved, but the horizon will clear. Passive resistance has no sense or utility. To pursue it means to head deliberately towards a catastrophe. It was with this in view that the Italian Government intervened to convince Berlin.

"It is hardly necessary to add that Italy is also directly concerned in this present what one might call 'phase of detente' on the Ruhr question, and she must see that her interests are carefully safeguarded in the settlement which is being vaguely talked about, or in any other scheme which may arise from diplomatic pourparlers, or from any eventual inter-Allied Conference."—(Reuter.)

BRITAIN'S INTEREST

MR. BALDWIN TO MEET M. POINCARE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Wednesday.

An evening newspaper states that Mr. Baldwin will leave Aix-les-Bains on Thursday, the 20th, and that a meeting with M. Poincaré will take place on the following day. This may prove another case of intelligent anticipation, but the Quai d'Orsay informs me that there is so far no official knowledge of the date of the Prime Minister's return, and that no such meeting has been arranged.

It is suggested here that if Mr. Baldwin's arrival here is delayed another week, the new German offer will have been received in Paris, although if Herr Stresemann's speech to-night should show that he is not prepared to cancel the passive resistance ordinances, the hopes of the last few days will have to be deferred.

M. Poincaré has already stated that any proposals received here would be communicated to Great Britain and other Allies, and this is repeated in the Press; but there appears, indeed, to be grounds for thinking that the German Government would not address them simultaneously to the Governments concerned.

On the whole, there is less confidence to-day, it being evidenced that Berlin would like to make the withdrawal of the passive resistance ordinances the subject of bargaining. Many voices to-day give warning that this may yet prove the rock on which the hopes of definite negotiations may be wrecked.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

ARRIVAL IN QUEBEC.

AN ENJOYABLE TRIP.

QUEBEC, Wednesday.

The Prince of Wales, travelling as "Lord Renfrew," arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning in the Empress of France.

He disembarked at 11 o'clock and drove to the Château Frontenac, where he will spend the day quietly, leaving to-morrow morning by special train for his Alberta ranch.

There was no demonstration on the Prince's arrival, in accordance with his own wishes. A small crowd gathered at the dock, but was easily controlled by a number of the Canadian railway police. Early visitors to the ship for the purpose of extending a welcome to the Prince were Lord Shaughnessy, representing Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Sir Michael Seymour, Admiral of the North Atlantic Squadron, whose flagship Calcutta is in port.

Officers of the Empress of France said that the Prince had thoroughly enjoyed himself during the voyage, mixing freely with the passengers and joining in all the dances. On Sunday he read the Lesson at the Service.

The only welcome of an official character is likely to be a call by Major O'Connor, Aide-de-Camp of Lord Byng, the Governor-General, who will present His Excellency's respects.

The Prince occupies a suite on the twelfth floor of the Château Frontenac, which commands a fine view of the St. Lawrence and the ancient citadel.

The Empress of France was escorted up the river to the pier by an aeroplane of the Forest Survey Service. Passengers on the liner spoke in the highest terms of admiration of the Prince.

Mr. Justice Tessier, Quebec High Court Judge, who lunched with the Prince on the voyage, said, in an interview—"What struck me most forcibly was his remembrance of the names of many people he met during his last Canadian visit. He mentioned some of their familiar designations, and alluded to the former Mayor of Toronto as Tommy."

Mr. Church, the ex-Mayor referred to, is now a member of the Canadian House of Commons.

Mr. Justice Tessier said that the Prince, after his evening game of bridge, usually took a long stroll around the deserted deck, sometimes continuing his walk until 2 o'clock in the morning.

THE JOURNEY TO THE RANCH.

MONTREAL, Wednesday.

The Prince of Wales will leave Quebec at three o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and pass through Montreal the same evening, en route to his Western ranch. He will be in Montreal only ten minutes, and will not leave his car. The Prince will not visit Toronto, but will travel West via Ottawa, where there will also be only a ten minutes' stop. The next stop will be made at Chalk River, and from that point there will be no further changes until the ranch is reached.

NO VISIT TO UNITED STATES.

Sir Godfrey Thomas, the Prince of Wales's Secretary, stated yesterday in Quebec that the Prince would make no public appearances during his visit to Canada, and would not go to the United States.

He added that the Prince had only made one engagement, namely, a stay at Ottawa on his return, with Lord and Lady Byng. He pointed out that the Prince was on a visit to get away from fixed programmes, of which his life normally consisted. Nothing definite could be said as to when the Prince would leave his ranch. The only thing definitely known was that he would sail for home from Quebec on the Empress of France on October 13.

STEAMER DISABLED OFF ORKNEY.

RESCUES BY A DESTROYER.

The Swedish steamer Citos, bound from the Baltic to Preston with a cargo of timber and pulp, lost her propeller off Orkney early yesterday morning. Part of the crew took to the ship's boat, which capsized, but the nine occupants were picked up by the destroyer Vivacious, which landed them at Scapa last night.

An Admiralty report issued by Lloyd's states that in response to a message from the Citos the Vivacious was sent to her assistance. Efforts to take the Citos in tow were unsuccessful, and she was partially abandoned by her crew. The boat capsized, but the Vivacious rescued eight men, who are believed to be all who were in the boat. The Citos struck Lowther Rock, but floated off.

The Vivacious subsequently reported that five men were still on board, and she was standing by, but could do nothing without a tug.

A further Lloyd's message stated that the remainder of the Citos's crew were taken off by the Orkney lifeboat.

BATTLESHIP IN COLLISION.

SAN PEDRO, CALIFORNIA, Wednesday.

The United States battleship, Texas, collided this morning with the steamship, Steel Seafarer, of the Isthmian Line, fourteen miles north of Point Arguello, near the rocks on which the seven American destroyers were wrecked recently. The collision took place shortly after eight o'clock when the Texas was steaming southward in a dense fog. The Steel Seafarer has a large hole in her bow above the waterline, but is believed to be in no immediate danger, and is proceeding under its own steam to San Francisco.—(Reuter.)

A MISSING STEAMER.

Grave fears are entertained for the safety of a steamer owned by Messrs. Stone and Rolfe, shipowners, Llanelly, with a crew of fifteen. The vessel left Immingham on August 27 for Oporto with coal. Two days later she passed Dungeness, but nothing has been heard of her since. The company states that hopes of the vessel's safety have practically been abandoned.

A STEAMER ON FIRE.

A Lloyd's Agency telegram from Kilindini of yesterday's date says:—The British steamer Spectator, the Clyde and Liverpool for Dar es Salaam, reports by wireless a fire in the bunkers. The crew commenced discharging the coals overboard. The Taroba is going to her assistance. The position is 180 miles from Kisimayu.

TRANSVAAL NATIONALISTS.

PRETORIA, Wednesday.

Speaking at the opening of the Transvaal Nationalist Congress, M. Tielman Roos strongly emphasised that the ideal of the Republic would always be the principle of the Nationalist Party, and that sooner or later a decision in favour of independence would be taken by nine-tenths of the people of South Africa.—(Reuter.)

SELF-GOVERNMENT DEMAND IN PHILIPPINES.

MANILA, Wednesday.

In the course of public addresses made last night by native Government officials, it was declared that it was intended to reduce the Governor-General to a mere figurehead. Señor Manuel Quevon, the President of the Senate, referred to the British self-governing Colonies, and said that the Philipinos wanted a Government similar to them.—(Reuter.)

WHEN THE DAIL MEETS.

REPUBLICAN ATTITUDE.

EFFORTS TO REACH AN AGREEMENT.

(BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Although the new Dail will assemble within a week, the Republican Party has given no sign that it intends to send any of its representatives to Leinster House on the 19th instant.

Yesterday, however, it was learned from a responsible Republican source that, "pending action—if any—by the Government in regard to the 29 Republican members who are now interned, the Republican Party cannot arrive at any definite or final decision in the matter." It was added that, unless and until, the "29 internees" were released it could be taken as positive that none of the other elected representatives of the Republican Party would attend the Dail.

It has been persistently rumoured during the past few days that an influential outside interest has been endeavouring to bring about a rapprochement between the Government and their opponents, and that, while the Government have not as yet been actually approached on the matter, they may be approached in the immediate future. However that may be, there can be little doubt as to the attitude of the Government towards any such advance. Their terms have been clearly stated and defined, not once, but many times during the past six months.

THE PRISONERS.

On the other hand, the belief holds among the heads of the Sinn Fein organisation that the Government must take notice of the fact that quite a large number of those elected to the new Dail are now in prison. Presumably, they argue, the Clerk of the Dail will send to each elected representative an invitation to attend at Leinster House on the 19th inst. They think, perhaps not altogether illogically, that having issued such invitation, the Government cannot reasonably continue to detain these prisoners, or impose on them such restriction of movement as would preclude them from availing themselves of the invitation, if they desire to do so.

The Government's obvious answer to this suggestion would be that the individuals in question, although they have been elected to certain constituencies, in the Dail, are where they find themselves at present because, in the Government opinion, the fact of their being at liberty would constitute a danger to the State, and would be prejudicial to the public safety. In addition they would naturally make the point that the arms remain dumped, and ready for use at any time.

By way of reply to that, certain of the more prominent Republican leaders would, it is believed, be disposed to give a guarantee that, in the event of the elected representatives of their party being released, these arms would not be used against the Government. In view of the latter's oft-repeated declaration that the committal of all arms and ammunition to Government custody would be a condition precedent to any negotiation, it is clear that such a guarantee would hardly be accepted. Even if the Government released the interned representatives, one sees no evidence of their anxiety to take the oath as it stands. So far as one can gather, the position appears to be that in return for their release, the interned members, or their leaders, acting on their behalf, are prepared to guarantee that their future activity, whether in or outside the Dail, will be entirely "constitutional," and that there will be no resort to force.

There is, however, no pretence that any of the interned men is willing to subscribe the oath of allegiance in its present form. Neither is the Republicans' immediate aim the abolition of the oath. It is pointed out that their object will be to have the oath modified, or else made optional. They profess not only to believe that such an end might safely be attained, but to perceive no possibility of its complicating the boundary problem, which is delicate enough already.

IN THE EVENT OF RELEASE.

So far as their attitude to the new Dail is concerned, it would seem that it will be regulated by the position in which their 29 interned representatives find themselves on the 19th inst. If these members are still interned the probability is that none of the other Republican members will attend at Leinster House on Wednesday next. It is understood that in the event of the release of the interned representatives at least 40 of the of the 44 elected Republicans would go to Leinster House, but would not take the oath, though they would be disposed to guarantee, in any case, that there would be no return to armed activity on their part or on the part of their followers. It is further stated that their willingness to provide such a guarantee has been intimated to the "outside interest" already mentioned. This guarantee would, it is declared, continue to hold good even though the members were refused permission to sit in consequence of their non-acceptance of the oath.

PARTY MEETINGS.

Three or four party meetings will be held during the coming week, when questions of policy for the coming session will be discussed. Members of Cumann-na-Gaedheal who have been elected to the Dail have been summoned by the organisation headquarters to attend a general meeting of newly-elected members in Dublin on Monday next.

A meeting of the Farmers' representatives will take place on Tuesday evening, when the party's leaders in the new Dail will be nominated.

The Labour members also will meet before the commencement of the session.

On Sunday next meetings to demand the release of the political prisoners—with particular reference to the newly elected representatives—will be held by the Sinn Fein organisation throughout the country. The heads of the organisation hope to have on their platforms speakers representing Labour, the Farming, and other interests. A meeting in Dublin has been arranged for 4 p.m.

SUMMONS TO DEPUTIES

OATH TO BE TAKEN BEFORE DAIL MEETS.

The new Dail will meet officially on the 19th inst., but from Monday onwards members may attend at the Clerk's Office, at prescribed times, for the purpose of taking the oath.

The invitation which has been sent to the newly-elected members is signed by the Clerk of Dail, and is in the following terms:—

"Your name has been returned to me as that of one of the members elected for ——— to serve in the Dail, which has been summoned by Proclamation, dated 9th August, 1923, to meet in Dublin, at 3 p.m., on 19th September 1923 pursuant to Standing Order No. 1 of the Standing Orders of Dail Eireann.

"I have to notify you that your attendance is required at my office, Leinster House, Kildare street, Dublin, on Monday, 17th, or Tuesday, 18th, September, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., or on Wednesday, 19th September, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., for the purpose of complying with the provisions of Article 17 of the Constitution."

The Standing Orders of the Dail have been revised, and in their new form are not yet available to the public; but it is understood that the Standing Order mentioned in the above summons is designed to prevent disturbance, such as that which took place on the day when the late Dail was sworn in. It will be remembered that on that occasion the late Mr. Ginnell declined to take the oath, and was subsequently obliged to leave the House.

Article 17 of the Constitution, above referred to, is in the following terms:—

"The oath to be taken by members of the Oireachtas shall be in the following form:—

"I, ———, do solemnly swear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of the Irish Free State, as by law established, and that I will be faithful to His Majesty King George V., his heirs and successors by law, in virtue of the common citizenship of Ireland with Great Britain, and her adherence to and membership of the group of nations forming the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"Such oath shall be taken and subscribed by every member of the Oireachtas before taking his seat therein, before the representative of the Crown or some person authorised by him."

A telegram from Reuter's Correspondent at Marseilles says that Zaghlul Pasha left for Alexandria yesterday evening on board the Lotus.

ITALY'S DEMANDS CONCEDED.

LEAGUE INTERVENTION "PREVENTED."

MUSSOLINI JUSTIFIES HIS POLICY.

ROME, Wednesday.

In the course of a speech at a meeting of the Cabinet to-day, Signor Mussolini declared that the Italo-Greek conflict was in a fair way to settlement, thanks to the action of the Conference of Ambassadors, which had substantially adopted the demands contained in the first ultimatum of the Italian Government. The firm attitude of the Italian Government had prevented intervention on the part of the League of Nations.

The evacuation of Corfu would take place, as had been said again and again, when the Greek Government fulfilled the demands of the Ambassadors' Note. No one, therefore, could in any way doubt the honesty of the Italian Government. When reparations had been paid, Italy would evacuate the islands, which had been seized merely as a pledge.

Certain statements had been made abroad which were irrelevant, biassed, and even offensive. Public opinion in certain countries at the outset had assumed an attitude of hostility towards the necessary and legitimate action of the Italian Government. Public opinion in those countries was now beginning to change, thanks to the splendid display of union presented by the Italian people. It was now universally recognised that Italy's foreign policy had successfully weathered a crisis which might have had very grave developments. Nothing now remained to Italy and Corfu but to wait for Greece completely to perform her duty.

FIUME QUESTION.

AWAITING SERBIA'S REPLY.

Referring to the question of Fiume, the Prime Minister reviewed the events immediately preceding his ultimatum to Belgrade. On August 31 the Special Commission of the Italians and Jugo-Slavs completed its labours and presented its report. The Italian Government notified Belgrade that a settlement must be reached by September 15 in view of the serious material and moral harm being done to Fiume, in spite of the aid of the Italian Government.

A final proposal, which was absolutely fair and conciliatory, had been made by Italy to the Government of Belgrade. No reply had been received up to this day, and, therefore, any judgment or newspaper comment must be considered premature

There was always the possibility of direct agreement being reached without having recourse to arbitration, especially if the Belgrade Government would learn to estimate relations between the two Governments from a less narrow and local point of view. When the time arrived the good faith and forbearance of the Italian Government would be demonstrated by document.

After two hours' consideration nearly all the Ministers at the Council expressed their unanimous approval of the decisions and attitude of Signor Mussolini. On the proposal of General Diaz, the Council decided to request the King to issue a decree conferring posthumous decorations on the victims of the Janina murder.—(Reuter.)

CORFU EVACUATION.

AMBASSADORS MAY DEMAND DEFINITE DATE.

PARIS, Wednesday.

The Conference of Ambassadors held two sittings to-day, at which the manner in which the decisions reached on September 7 are to be applied was discussed. It will continue its deliberations to-morrow.

No official information regarding the labours of the Conference has been supplied. There is, however, some ground for believing that the draft of a Note to be addressed to the Hellenic Government has been elaborated, though without its being actually adopted by the different Allied representatives, who, by reason of the late hour, preferred to postpone consideration of the question till to-morrow. It is thought to be not impossible that some of them will take advantage of this delay to consult their Governments. Nor is it thought improbable that the difficulties now in the way relate to the evacuation of Corfu. On that point it would appear that the Italians are renewing their formal assurances while asking for "serious guarantees" with regard to the punishment of assassins.

The British attitude is described here as consisting in insisting on the immediate fixture of the date on which the Italian troops are to withdraw from Corfu. Meanwhile French political circles do not despair of a settlement being reached.—(Reuter.)

LEAGUE COUNCIL.

ADVISED TO POSTPONE DISCUSSION.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Wednesday.

At the opening of a general discussion on the work of the past year Viscount Ishii, as Chairman of the League Council, immediately asked leave to make the following statement:—

"The question of the dispute between Greece and Italy is still under consideration by the Council, and at the same time important negotiations are proceeding, and we hope that they will have a satisfactory conclusion. I, therefore, trust that members of the Assembly will find it desirable, for the present, to refrain from discussing this important matter."

The emphasis laid by the speaker on the words "for the present" made it clear that the Council has no desire to burke that discussion which everyone recognises as essential. Quite the contrary; but since the Conference of Ambassadors is meeting to-day and diplomatic inquiries are in progress with Rome regarding the date of the Corfu occupation, there is obvious wisdom in standing by for a day or two longer.

The importance of the abandonment of Corfu by the Italians at an early date is, I believe, fully realised by the French, who, after all, have ideas of their own regarding sea power in the Mediterranean. Even so, however, the Dutch delegate, M. Loudon, speaking for the representatives of many other countries, rose to express pointedly the hope that before the Assembly ended the Council would find it opportune to make a full statement to the Assembly on the Italian controversy.

Meanwhile, I learn from a reliable source that possibly as a result of the rumoured appeal to the League the Fiume affair appears to be a little easier, and a settlement by direct negotiations is still possible. In any case, there was never any prospect that this matter would be raised at Geneva before Saturday, when the time limit set by Signor Mussolini expires.

SITUATION IN FIUME.

IMMINENT DANGER OF WAR.

Reuter's Agency says that Professor Gilbert Murray has sent a marconigram from Geneva to the League of Nations Union stating that the situation in Fiume is very dangerous, and that unless the League intervenes general hostilities incolving Italy, Greece, Serbia, Bulgaria, and Hungary are certain to commence on the 16th. Some of the military plans of the Balkan Powers are already decided.

GARRISON REINFORCED.

ATHENS, Wednesday.

A despatch received to-day from Corfu states that the island presents the aspect of an Italian base. A full Army Corps has been landed at Corfu, and there are indications of a prolonged extension of the occupation.—(Reuter.)

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

SIR E. RUTHERFORD'S ADDRESS.

ONWARD MARCH OF PHYSICS.

The Times, in a leading article, says:—Sir Ernest Rutherford, in his presidential address to the British Association last evening, justified his description of the twenty-seven years since the last meeting in Liverpool, as the "heroic age of physical science." In 1894 Sir Oliver Lodge gave the first public demonstration of signalling for short distances by electrical wireless waves. At Liverpool, in 1896, the late Sir William Preece, discussing a paper by Rutherford—then known only to a small group of University workers—told the meeting of the successful transmission of signals for a few hundred yards made in England by a young Italian, G. Marconi. And now, thanks, on the one hand, to free and patient research, and, on the other, to costly and deliberately commercial elaboration of scientific discoveries, the human voice can be flung round the globe with the speed of light, or a concert in London broadcast to all England.

Until the middle of the last decade of the nineteenth century the atoms of the different elements were accepted as the ultimate units of the material universe, with given differences in mass and in properties. And now these remote, almost theoretical, entities are known to be ordered and related microcosoms with structure and swirling movements. Sir Ernest Rutherford suggests even that the more stable elements may already have reached a state of equilibrium, in which they have no longer a surplus of energy for release. And he warns us that the laws which govern the massive world may not continue to apply to the intimate recesses of the nuclei of atoms. It is right that brilliant investigators should be chary of prophecy, but the revolution in thought and method so ably exposed by Sir Ernest Rutherford justifies the hope that although, in comparison with the past, the present may be the heroic age of physics, it yet may come to appear only a dim groping to later generations.

THE CORFU POSITION.

SIGNOR MUSSOLINI'S STATEMENT.

The Times, in a leading article, says:—Signor Mussolini has again declared that Corfu will be evacuated "when the demands of the Conference have been not only formally accepted, but also executed," and he repudiates the suspicions of his sincerity which have been felt abroad as not only "inopportune and misleading, but as in effect offensive." "There is now nothing for Italy to do," he declares, "but to wait in Corfu until Greece has fully carried out her obligations."

We are anxious to put the most favourable construction upon these statements, but Signor Mussolini must be quite well aware that they leave matters as they were. They may mean that Corfu will be evacuated when the Special Commission terminate their inquiry into the murders, but they may also mean that Corfu will not be evacuated until after the International Court has delivered its findings.

A COSTLY OPERATION.

The Morning Post says:—Continental nations are everywhere disputing British world markets, and some even invade our home markets. These facts have produced a crisis unparalleled in British industry. Our export trade is languishing because our competitors are underselling us in their own markets and in the markets of our customers. It is a costly operation to change front before an enemy, but it must be done if anything is to be saved of our industrial supremacy.

THE LAST LINK.

In an article published by the Daily Mail, Mr. Darrell Figgis, who was the Chairman of the Constitution Committee of the Irish Free State, maintains that there is no right of appeal to the Privy Council from the Irish Free State Courts. In other words, that the last link that bound Ireland to the United Kingdom is broken.

IRISH MUSICAL TALENT.

The Southampton Correspondent of the "Westminster Gazette," telegraphing on Wednesday, says:—A systematic search in the schools of Southern Ireland for musical talent will be undertaken next year, according to Mr. John McCormack, the tenor, who left Southampton to-day by the Majestic, for America. Mr. McCormack said that he would return to Ireland next spring to superintend this search for musically-gifted children. It is part, he explained, of an effort to bring out the musical spirit of the Irish race.

"Now that the distractions are ending," he said, "I feel that Ireland has a great musical future. The certainty of it came on me in visiting Dublin this time. The Free State Minister of Education has an American sense of the importance of music teaching, and in Ireland there will be nothing like the English schools' neglect of music. A new College of Music in Dublin is proposed, and next year there will be an Eisteddfod."

WINTER UNEMPLOYMENT.

The Westminster Gazette says:—So far as can be judged from the figures for a single month, our trade seems to be holding its own, but with difficulty and without gaining ground. There is no improvement which can leave us with the hope that we shall not be confronted with very serious unemployment during the winter, or that our industrial life can renew its vigour while the world remains unsettled and impoverished. All that we can do as a nation is to work in every possible way for peace and reconstruction in Europe, and, in the meantime, to conserve our strength for better times.

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE'S RETURN.

PREPARATIONS FOR HIS RECEPTION.

Mr. J. M. Devitt, Chairman of the Kingstown Urban Council, presided at a meeting of the Reception Committee at the Town Hall, Kingstown, last night, when the arrangements for the welcome to President Cosgrave on his return from Geneva to-morrow evening were completed.

When the mail boat steams into the harbour a salute of guns will be fired. Aeroplanes will escort the vessel and a party of trumpeters will sound the fanfares as she draws alongside the pier. An hour before her arrival a band of the Special Infantry Corps will play on the promenade overlooking the pier.

The Reception Committee will go on board as soon as the gangways are put in position, and will be the first to greet President Cosgrave and his party.

When he comes ashore an address will be presented, to which he will reply.

Only ticket holders will be admitted to the east side of the Carlisle Pier. All the public buildings in the township and boats in the harbour will be decorated with bunting. The procession from the pier will go via Longford terrace, and Upper and Lower George's street, on its way to Blackrock, where President Cosgrave will receive a public welcome. The Carriglea band will be in attendance.

Residents along the route from Kingstown to Dublin are expected to display flags and bunting.

THE HEROIC AGE OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

REVIEW BY SIR E. RUTHERFORD.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION'S MEETING.

PROBLEM OF ATOMIC ENERGY.

The ninety-first annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science was opened last evening at Liverpool. The gathering is one of the biggest that the Association has held. Nearly 3,000 members will take part in, or listen to, the discussions, which will embrace strictly technical subjects, as well as matters of interest to those who have not made a study of science.

Many women are taking an active part in the proceedings, and students at the universities and public schools have responded in large numbers to the invitations to participate in the deliberations. Leading citizens of Liverpool, the University of the city, and the educational authorities are assisting to ensure the success of what promises to be a notable assemblage.

Sir Ernest Rutherford last night delivered his presidential address in the Philharmonic Hall, his subject being "The Electrical Structure of Matter." The audience included most of the leading scientists of the world. The Lord Mayor of Liverpool welcomed the Association to Liverpool, and the Vice-Chancellor offered greetings on behalf of the University. The address was broadcasted throughout the country by wireless.

Sir Ernest decribed the twenty-seven years that had elapsed since the Association last met in Liverpool as "the heroic age of Physical Science." It had been a period of intense activity, and discoveries of fundamental importance had followed one another with bewildering rapidity.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

A PERIOD OF GREAT PROGRESS

Sir Ernest Rutherford gave an interesting review of a period in scientific progress which, dating approximately from 1896, when the Association last met in Liverpool, might, he said, almost be termed the Renaissance of Physics. The previous meeting in Liverpool, he recalled, was under the Presidency of the late Lord Lister, that great pioneer in antiseptic surgery. His address, which dealt mainly with the history of the application of antiseptic methods to surgery and its connection with the work of Pasteur, that prince of experimenters, whose birth had been so fittingly celebrated this year, gave them a completed page of brilliant scientific history.

Looking back with some sense of perspective, said Sir Ernest, they could not fail to recognise that the last Liverpool meeting marked the beginning of what had been aptly termed the heroic age of physical science. Never before in the history of physics had there been witnessed such a period of intense activity when discoveries of fundamental importance had followed one another with such bewildering rapidity.

Even the most imaginative of our scientific men could never have dreamed at that time of the extension of our knowledge of the structure of matter that was to develop from the two fundamental discoveries of X-rays by Röntgen, and of the radio activity of uranium by Becquerel, but in the records of the Liverpool meeting they saw the dawning recognition of the possible consequences of the discovery of X-rays, not only in their application to medicine and surgery, but as a new and powerful agent for attacking some of the fundamental problems of physics.

DISCOVERY OF WIRELESS.

In applied physics, too, 1896, marked the beginning of another advance. In the discussion of a paper which he (Sir Ernest) had the honour to read on a new magnetic detector of electrical waves, the late Sir William Preece told the meeting of the successful transmission of signals for a few hundred yards by electric waves, which had been made in England by a young Italian, G. Marconi. The first public demonstration of signalling for short distances by electric waves had been given by Sir Oliver Lodge at the Oxford meeting of the British Association in 1894.

It was startling to recall the rapidity of the development from such small beginnings of the new method of wireless inter-communication over the greatest terrestrial distances. In the last few years this had been followed by the even more rapid growth of radio-telephony as a practical means of broadcasting speech and music to distances only limited by the power of the transmitting station. The rapidity of these technical advances was an illustration of the close inter-connection that must exist between pure and applied science if rapid and sure progress was to be made.

The benefits of the union of pure and applied research had not been one-sided. If the fundamental researches of the workers in pure science supplied the foundations on which the applications were surely built, the successful practical application in turn quickened and extended the interest of the investigator in the fundamental problem, while the development of new methods and appliances required for technical purposes often provided the investigator with means of attacking still more difficult questions.

This important reaction between pure and applied science could be illustrated in many branches of knowledge. It was particularly manifest in the industrial development of X-Ray radiography, for therapeutic and industrial purposes, where the development on a large scale of special X-Ray tubes and improved methods of excitation had given the physicist much more efficient tools to carry out his researches on the nature of the rays themselves, and on the structure of the atom.

"In this age," added Sir Ernest, "no one can draw any sharp line of distinction between the importance of so-called pure and applied research. Both are equally essential to progress, and we cannot but recognise that without flourishing schools of research on fundamental matters in our Universities and scientific institutions technical research must tend to wither."

TWO ELECTRICAL UNITS.

Sir Ernest went on to refer to some of the main features of the great advance in knowledge of the nature of electricity and matter during the period under review, and said that there was the strongest evidence that the atoms of matter were built up of two electrical units—namely, the electron and the hydrogen nucleus or proton.

"It is probable," he said, "that these two are the fundamental and indivisible units which build up our universe, but we may reserve in our mind the possibility that further inquiry may some day show that these units are complex and divisible into even more fundamental entities."

There could be little doubt that the next decade would see an intensified attack by physicists and chemists on the very important, but very complicated, question of the chemical combination of atoms.

Speaking on the important question of the energy relations involved in the formation and disintegration of atomic nuclei first opened up by the study of radioactivity, Sir Ernest Rutherford said that since it was believed that the radioactive elements were analogous in structure to the ordinary inactive elements, the idea naturally arose that the atoms of all the elements contained a similar concentration of energy, which would be available for use if only some simple method could be discovered of promoting and controlling their disintegration.

This possibility of obtaining new and cheap sources of energy for practical purposes was naturally an alluring prospect to the lay and scientific man alike. It was quite true that, if we were able to hasten the radioactive processes in uranium and thorium, so that the whole cycle of their disintegration could be confined to a few days, instead of being spread over thousands of millions of years, these elements would provide very convenient sources of energy on a sufficient scale to be of considerable importance.

VIEWS MODIFIED.

"Unfortunately," added Sir Ernest, "although many experiments have been tried, there is no evidence that the rate of disintegration of these elements can be altered in the slightest degree by the most powerful laboratory agencies. With increase in our knowledge of atomic structure there has been a gradual change of our point of view of this important question, and there is by no means the same certainty to-day as a decade ago, that the atoms of an element contain hidden stores of energy."

The tide of advance in physical science had been continuous from 1896, but there was an inevitable slackening during the war. It was a matter of good omen that, in the last few years, the old rate of progress had not only been maintained, but intensified, and there appeared to be no obvious sign that this period of great advances had come to an end. There had never been a time when the enthusiasm of the scientific workers was greater, or when there was a more hopeful feeling that great advances were imminent.

This feeling was, no doubt, in part due to the great improvement during this epoch of the technical methods of attack, for problems that at one time seemed unattackable, were now seen to be likely to fall before the new methods. In the main, the epoch under consideration had been an age of experiment, where the experimenter had been the pioneer in the attack on new problems. At the same time, it had been, also, an age of bold ideas in theory, as the Buantum Theory and the Theory of Relativity, so well illustrated.

"In watching the rapidity of this tide of advance in physics," concluded Sir Ernest, "I have become more and more impressed by the power of the scientific methods of extending our knowledge of Nature. Experiment, directed by the disciplined imagination either of an individual or, still better, of a group of individuals of varied mental outlook, is able to achieve results which far transcend the imagination alone of the greatest natural philosopher. Experiment without imagination, or imagination without recourse to experiment, can accomplish little, but, for effective progress, a happy blend of these two powers is necessary.

PROBING THE UNKNOWN.

"The unknown appears as a dense mist before the eyes of men. In penetrating this obscurity, we cannot invoke the aid of supermen, but must depend on the combined efforts of a number of adequately trained ordinary men of scientific imagination. Each, in his own special field of inquiry is enabled by the scientific method to penetrate a short distance, and his work reacts upon and influences the whole body of other workers. From time to time there arises an illuminating conception, based on accumulated knowledge, which lights up a large region and shows the connection between these individual efforts, so that the general advance follows. The attack begins anew on a wider front and often with improved technical weapons. The conception which led to this advance often appears simple and obvious when once it has been put forward. This is a common experience, and the scientific man often feels a sense of disappointment that he himself had not foreseen a development which ultimately seems so clear and inevitable.

"The intellectual interest due to the rapid growth of science to-day cannot fail to act as a stimulus to young men to join in scientific investigation. In every branch of science there are numerous problems of fundamental interest and importance which await solution. We may confidently predict an accelerated rate of progress of scientific discovery, beneficial to mankind, certainly in a material, but possibly even more so in an intellectual sense. In order to obtain the best results, certain conditions must, however, be fulfilled. It is necessary that our universities and other specific institutions should be liberally supported, so as not only to be in a position to train adequately young investigators of promise, but also to serve themselves as active centres of research.

PEACE AND PROGRESS.

"At the same time, there must be a reasonable competence for those who have shown a capacity for original investigation. Not least, peace throughout the civilised world is as important for rapid scientific development as for general commercial prosperity. Indeed, science is truly international, and for progress in many directions the co-operation of nations is as essential as the co-operation of individuals. Science, no less than industry, desires a stability not yet achieved in world conditions.

"There is an error far too prevalent to-day that science progresses by the demolition of former well-established theories. Such is very rarely the case. For example, it is often stated that Einstein's general theory of relativity has overthrown the work of Newton on gravitation. No statement could be farther from the truth. Their works, in fact, are hardly comparable, for they deal with different fields of thought. So far as the work of Einstein is relevant to that of Newton, it is simply a generalisation and broadening of its basis; in fact, a typical case of mathematical and physical development. In general, a great principle is not discarded, but so modified that it rests on a broader and more stable basis."

SHOTS FROM A FENCE

LIMERICK MAN'S ESCAPE FROM ASSAILANTS.

At a Special Court in Limerick, before Mr. D. Cantrell, Daniel Coughlan and James Mulcahy were charged with shooting at Joseph Storan, with intent to injure him, on August 30.

In an information, Storan stated that while coming from his mother's house at Singland two shots were fired at him by the accused, who were standing behind a fence. The witness crossed the fence on the opposite side of the road, and was pursued by the prisoners, who were joined by two others whom he did not know, and two further shots were discharged at him.

On the application of Inspector Fleming, the accused were remanded on bail until Friday.

BETTING RAID IN LURGAN.

A betting raid, the first of its kind in Lurgan, was made by the police on Wednesday afternoon, in a house in May's court, off Market street, Lurgan, occupied by William Gilley. He and five others, named Stewart, Belfast, and Maxwell, Proctor, McKerr and Davis, all of Lurgan, were taken to the Church place Police Barracks.

A Special Court was held by Mr. Browne, J.P., one deposition was taken, and the accused were discharged to be summoned to the next Lurgan Petty Sessions.

Ask for N-K-M JELLY CRYSTALS

DRUGS FOR SICK POOR.

HOSPITAL SUPPLIES HELD UP BY STRIKE.

DUBLIN GUARDIANS TAKE NO ACTION.

At the weekly meeting of the Dublin Guardians yesterday, Mrs. McKeon, Vice-Chairman, presiding,

The Acting Clerk said that a letter had been sent to the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, requesting the Dublin Strike Committee not to interfere with the supply of drugs to the hospital pending the termination of the present contract. To that communication a reply had been received from the Strike Committee, stating they "could not grant your request." There was a further letter received from the Strike Committee, saying: "Please arrange for your Board to receive a deputation from our Drug Committee to-day."

Mrs. Evans—The reply and snub you have received from the Strike Committee is eminently what you deserve for asking their permission to allow medicine and drugs to be allowed into the hospital for the dying poor.

Mr. Donohoe—Do we hold a letter from the contractor, Messrs. Boileau and Boyd, that they cannot supply you?

The Acting Clerk—No.

Mr. Donohoe—Under these circumstances, I think you should receive the deputation from the Strike Committee, and hear what they have to say. Defer the matter until we have heard them.

Miss C. Connor—We should have some consideration for these poor men who are going about idle. The hospital cannot do without medicine.

The Chairman—The position we are in is that we cannot receive a deputation, as it is against the rules.

Mrs. Evans—They have very little consideration for the dying and sick poor in preventing them getting medicine to save their lives. The medicine was sent here, but the chemist would not take it in.

Mr. Donohoe—What I understand happened was that a picket outside the house would not let in the consignment from Boileau and Boyd.

STRIKE COMMITTEE'S SUGGESTION.

Eventually it was decided to receive the deputation.

The Chairman of the Strike Committee (Mr. Fogarty) said that some members of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union in the employment of the Board refused to handle these drugs from Boileau and Boyd. The goods were accompanied by a picket, who stated that the men making the delivery were non-union men, and the union men would not handle them. Since the Guardians' letter came before the Strike Committee, the matter had been further considered by the Committee. Owing to the acute stage the strike and lockout had reached, the Committee was not anxious to have any friction whatever, in any shape or form, with the Board, and would be willing to stretch any point if they thought the difficulty could be got over. In view of the fact of the many applications made for medicines, and that many places in the city were run out of medicines, the Committee suggested that the Board should try an experiment for the next fortnight, and obtain their supply from Liverpool. The Committee was in a position to name two or three firms in Liverpool, from which the Board could obtain any supply of medicine required for the hospital between now and the termination of the contract in a few weeks. The Committee guaranteed that the stuff could be got direct from Liverpool, and as speedily as it could be got from any other place. There was no more medicine in the city, and Messrs. Boileau and Boyd were not in a position to supply the medicine. They wanted to know if the Board had received from the firm a letter that, owing to existing circumstances, they could not complete their contract.

The Chairman said that they had not.

Mr. Fogarty—You will have immediate delivery from Liverpool, and that will get the Board out of the difficulty. The union pledges itself to see to this.

Mr. Fogarty added that the deputation would wait outside pending the decision of the Board. If the Guardians had any doubt about his offer he said that, if they gave the Strike Committee Messers. Boileau and Boyd's prices, they would ask the firms that he referred to if they would give goods at the same prices. They were in communication with a traveller "out in the Howth road or somewhere," and they would ask him. The contract had only two weeks to go, and there was no use in any friction.

The Strike Committee deputation having withdrawn,

DICTATING TERMS.

Mrs. Evans said that she considered it was a very great reflection on that Board to think that any union, trade union or other, would dare to come in and dictate as to who the Guardians were to buy from and who not to buy from. She thought it was the very limit, and she certainly for one very strongly protested against it.

Mr. Donohoe asked the Clerk could the Guardians buy their drugs from some other firm than the firm they were dealing with.

The Acting Clerk said that Messrs. Boileau and Boyd had tendered to supply goods, and so long as that tender existed the Guardians were bound to accept supplies from them, and they could not purchase the drugs elsewhere.

Mr. Donohoe said that he had seen a picket watching for goods from Messrs. Boileau and Boyd outside the workhouse, and he was afraid that if the Board insisted on taking drugs from this firm, which had employés locked out, they would find themselves in queer street. He did not want that, and he was sure no member of the Board wanted it, and he thought that they should try and strain a point to keep out of this labour struggle. They would not get strikers to accept stuff delivered by non-union labour.

Chairman—What do you suggest?

Mr. Donohoe—I would suggest that the stuff be purchased from some other firm.

Chairman—We cannot do it.

Alderman Lawlor said that the Strike Committee were not fostering cross-Channel firms, but the expedient they adopted was due to the action of Messrs. Boileau and Boyd in locking out their employés. Mrs. Evans had not got a monopoly of feeling for the unfortunate poor.

Chairman—We have no power to purchase from any other firms outside those with which we have a contract.

Mr. Hely agreed that the question was a very difficult one. Surcharges against Guardians had been remitted that day, and they now had a matter before them which might incur surcharges if they acted contrary to their contract with Messrs. Boileau and Boyd.

Alderman Lawlor moved, and Mr. Donohoe seconded:—"That the Clerk be instructed to get into communication with the Irish representatives of Messrs. Sumner, Evans, Lecher, and Webb, with the view of securing the necessary supply of drugs for this union's requirements, and that the minimum amount only be ordered to carry on until September 30, when the present contract with Messrs. Boileau and Boyd expires."

The Acting Clerk said that, if the Guardians adopted the resolution, they would be breaking their contract.

The Chairman ruled the motion out of order, and the matter dropped.

CYCLISTS COLLIDE.

YOUTH SERIOUSLY INJURED.

A collision between a push-cyclist and a motor-cyclist on Tuesday evening, on the Ballymena road near Larne, had a very unfortunate consequence for the push-cyclist, whose right leg and foot were so badly broken that it is feared that amputation will be necessary.

There seems to have been no witness of the accident, but Mr. George Gragg, jun., road contractor, when motoring into Larne, found both cyclists and their machines lying on the road.

He summoned the assistance of Dr. Hill, when the cyclist was found to be Arthur, the 14-year-old son of Mr. Daniel Phillips, Ballyloran, near Larne, and the motor-cyclist, William Beatty, son of Mr. W. J. Beatty, a well-known resident of the town.

The lads were removed to the Smiley Cottage Hospital. It was then discovered that Phillips' leg and foot were badly broken. Beatty received first-aid treatment, but was not detained.

FAHMY MURDER TRIAL.

ACCUSED WOMAN'S STORY.

Giving evidence at the Old Bailey, London, yesterday, Madame Fahmy, who is charged with the murder of her Egyptian husband, spoke of his ill-treatment of her, and said that he once dislocated her jaw with a blow from his fist. He had threatened to kill her, and once took a horsewhip to her. Referring to her husband's promises to reform, the accused woman said, amid sobs, "I passed from despair to hope, and from hope to despair."

Coming to the day of the murder, she said that Fahmy was furious because she was preparing to return to Paris, and that he made all kinds of threats. That night there was a terrible thunderstorm, which made her very nervous, and she did not go to bed. Her husband came to her room, and after some words, tore her dress in the struggle. He seized her by the throat, his thumb pressing her windpipe. Very frightened, and very weak, she picked up a revolver, which she thought was ineffective. He crouched to spring on me and said, "I will kill you." I now lifted my arm in front of me, and without looking, pulled the trigger. The next moment I saw him on the ground before me, without realising what had happened.

Continuing to sob bitterly, Madame Fahmy proceeded:—When I saw him lying on the floor I caught hold of his hand, and said, "Sweetheart, it is nothing. Speak, oh please speak to me." She added that she thought there was no cartridge in the revolver, and when she pointed it she thought that Fahmy, who shouted "I will kill you, I will kill you," was going to jump on her and kill her.

During her examination, which lasted three hours, Madame Fahmy broke down several times, and swooned in the witness box just before the Court adjourned.

It is not expected that the case will finish before to-morrow.

THE PRISONERS.

WEXFORD COUNCILLORS' VIEWS.

At the meeting of the Wexford Rural District Council, Mr. James F. Kelly moved a resolution calling on the Government to release the prisoners. This was necessary to secure peace and enable the Republican deputies to attend the Dail. He also urged that both political parties should be requested to come together and arrange a peace basis.

The Chairman (Mr. C. Culleton) said that the majority of the people were opposed to militarism in any shape or form, because it was detrimental to the interests of all classes.

Mr. P. Hayes said that they were not aware of the intentions of the Republican members who were elected, but he thought that both parties should try and come to an agreement. It was not by hunting men from hills to glens that peace would be brought about.

The Chairman said that it would be very difficult to bring the parties together as long as there were men imprisoned.

Mr. Kelly said that the releases should be hastened by the fact that Mr. de Valera guaranteed that there would be no more physical force.

Mr. W. White said that he did not think that there was much use in sending silly resolutions when they had all the Ministers re-elected. Resolutions did not seem effective unless some terms of peace or something definite were embodied.

Mr. R. Dillon—That would be best left to the higher authorities on either side.

The resolution was carried.

CORK STRIKE TROUBLE.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

There was no change yesterday in the situation created by the Cork labour troubles.

There were further sittings of the Sub-Committees appointed by the Conference of Employers and Workers. It is stated that the prospects of a settlement are hopeful. An official statement issued in the afternoon was as follows:—

"The Joint Committees appointed by the main Conference have concluded their sittings to-day. The proceedings have been harmonious, and have resulted in a considerable body of information being made available for the Assistant Minister of Industry and Commerce on the resumption of the main Conference on Thursday at 3.30 p.m."

DUBLIN DOCK STRIKE.

There was less than usual doing at the Dublin quays yesterday, and the rain made the riverside look even more dismal. All the chartered vessels in the port had completed their discharge, and there were no fresh arrivals. A great quantity of goods brought in by the chartered ships has accumulated on the quays.

NO QUORUM.

CHINA'S PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

PEKING, Wednesday.

By order of the police, the city was beflagged to-day in honour of the attempt which is being made by Parliament to hold the Presidential election.

Many troops were assembled, and the approaches to the local Westminster were blocked with motor cars, but the essential element in the shape of a quorum of members was lacking, and nothing was done except to announce that another attempt will be made on Friday.

The quorum for the purpose of electing the President is about 580, but everybody knows that the members available are 150 short of that figure. The decision to hold a session, which, apparently, must be abortive, suggests an endeavour to engineer the election by illegally permitting substitutes to vote.

Public interest in the matter is considerable, and the local Press has for weeks past been busy discussing the terms demanded by members to vote for the Chili champion, Tsao Kuku. Five thousand dollars—half down and half after the election—was the reputed figure, but a well-informed Chinese friend tells me that 8,000 dollars (or nearly £1,000) was offered in some quarters.

The charitable view is taken that members are entitled to get what they can, because their official salaries are years in arrear; while there are supposed to be about 200 honest members who cannot be bought at all.

In the circumstances, it is highly improbable that a Parliamentary quorum will be available at Peking on Friday or any later date, in which case the State, being without a President or a regularly constituted Government, will continue probably until something in the nature of a coup d'état occurs.—(The Times Correspondent.)

RURAL DISTRICT COUNCILS.

PROTESTS AGAINST ABOLITION.

At a meeting of County Limerick Farmers' Association a resolution of protest against the proposed abolition of District Councils was received from the Limerick No. 1 District Council.

Mr. McCormack, a member of the Association, expressed the view that it would be beneficial to abolish District Councils, but in that event representation on the County Council should be increased.

It was decided to take the opinion of the branches on the matter.

The Urlingford (Co. Kilkenny) Rural District Council passed a resolution expressing surprise and dissatisfaction at the proposed abolition of Rural Councils, and earnestly requesting the Government not to proceed with any such legislation.

The Bailieborough Rural Council adopted the resolution protesting against the abolition of Rural Councils.

GIRL FOUND DEAD.

YOUNG MAN WOUNDED.

What is believed to be a love tragedy occurred in North-west Durham yesterday. The body of Minneta Mary Kelly, aged twenty, bearing shocking wounds, was found yesterday morning, behind a hedge, between Dipton and Tantobie. A young man lies in Newcastle Infirmary, suffering from a throat wound, and is watched by a police officer.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

SUGGESTED CHANGES IN STAMPING.

ENFORCING THE COAL ACTS.

The Waterworks and Markets Committee of the Dublin Corporation have presented a report upon the working of the Weights and Measures Department.

It was found that, in the existing state of the law the Department could not insist upon all of the testing and stamping of weights and measures being done by them, and that the English Weights and Measures Department's stamp was still valid in Dublin and throughout the Free State. They, therefore, recommended that an item in this regard be placed upon the list of matters proposed for forthcoming Private Bill legislation.

Meanwhile they had given stringent instructions to the inspector to exercise the existing powers to the utmost extent, and notify the public that failure to comply with the regulations would be followed by prosecutions in all cases.

The Committee sent Alderman O'Reilly, Councillor Logue and the Inspector of Weights and Measures to London to investigate the system there. Having detailed the recommendations of the deputation as a result of their inquiries, the Waterworks and Markets Committee recommend that the officials engaged on the work of adjusting at present (Messrs. Coade and Abbott) be appointed coal inspectors, for the proper carrying out of the Coal Acts.

This duty was formerly carried out by the late Major McBride, but since his death, Mr. Egan (Inspector of Weights and Measures) had that work added to his other duties. In Dublin, coal inspection was of supreme importance, as since the termination of the European war a large number of discharged soldiers, among others, had taken up the work of coal hawking and required the greatest supervision. That state of things also applied to the coal merchants, against some of whom their inspectors had resently been successful in obtaining convictions for breaches of the Coal Acts.

In conclusion, the Committee state that this reorganisation, if adopted, will bring the Dublin Weights and Measures Department up to the standard of efficiency obtaining in the English offices, and is calculated fully to protect the interests of the public.

MURDER IN A WOOD.

MAN REMANDED AT MANCHESTER.

At Manchester yesterday, David Colthorpe, who was living in a lodging house at Stockport, was remanded till Saturday on a charge of murdering Percy Sharp, aged 14, in a wood at Northend.

The only witness called against Colthorpe was Detective-Sergeant Butler, who stated that when the accused was told that he had been seen with the murdered boy, he made a statement. This was not made public, but was shown to the magistrates. He was placed among sixteen other men of similar appearance and dress, and was picked out by a person.

When formally charged the accused said—"Nothing further than you have got."

PTOMAINE POISONING.

DEATH AFTER EATING FISH AND CHIPS.

At an inquest at Norwich yesterday it transpired that the deceased, a single woman named Dennington, had died from ptomaine poisoning, caused by eating fried plaice and chips at Yarmouth.

Her father and mother, who partook of the same dish, are also suffering from poisoning.

POTATO INDUSTRY.

SIR R. SANDERS ON PRICES.

Sir R. Sanders, Minister of Agriculture, in a letter to the Secretary of the National Farmers' Union of Scotland, dated September 3rd, deals with the Agricultural Tribunal's recommendation that imports of foreign potatoes should be only permitted under general licence. He says that he had already stated to a deputation of English and Scottish farmers and potato growers that the Government had decided, after careful consideration, not to propose legislation at the present time, empowering the Government to prohibit the importation of potatoes from overseas.

With regard to the low prices realised for potatoes in 1922, there could be no doubt that the main cause of the slump was the abnormal yield of home-grown potatoes. The increase in imports this year is entirely due to imports of quite early potatoes. As to the suggestion that growers were expecting serious losses again this year, the trend of prices up to date does not confirm that contention. There is good reason to suppose that the fear of serious loss again occurring in the industry this year is much exaggerated.

HARASSED OFFICIAL.

TRIALS OF A COLONIAL POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

HONG KONG (By Mail).

The following is an extract from the annual report of the Postmaster-General of Hong Kong, Mr. S. B. C. Ross, for the year 1922:—What may be described as the extra postal correspondence of the Post Office has enormously increased.

First and foremost, there is the large army of stamp collectors. I do not, of course, refer to dealers who send cheques and drafts for their fancies, but to the numberless private persons who are interested in this hobby, including the small boys and girls scattered all over the world, who wish me, "or some other small boy or girl," to send them Chinese stamps. For some reason I am supposed to be a perfect mine of Chinese stamps. Then, judging from the number of letters received, the whole surviving male population of what was Hungary has taken to collecting Hong Kong stamps.

Next in mass come the people who wish to find missing relatives. Then cursory inquiries, the school teacher who has never seen a Chinese newspaper, but would like one, to explain to his pupils (this was duly sent, with a pinned-on notice, "this side up"); the man who wanted to buy a chow dog; the many men who had ginseng to sell; the lady who wrote to me enclosing a letter to the Emperor of China, who, she appeared to think, had apartments somewhere in my office. The letter began: "Dear Emperor," asked for his autograph, and expressed a hope that the writer and her husband might meet the "Dear Emperor" when they visited the Orient in the Fall.

The last letter worthy of comment was one from a man who wished me to send him signed cards from all notable persons "in my island." I think that this was the only letter received to which I was unable to make any reply.—(Reuter.)

CHARGE AGAINST A COLONEL.

Before a general court-martial at Strensall Camp, near York, the trial concluded yesterday of Major and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel W. Basil Greenwell, D.S.O., 1st Durham Light Infantry, who, it was alleged, whilst giving a lift to two lance-corporals in his motor car, acted towards one with indecent intent. The Colonel emphatically denied the charge. The Court honourably acquitted him, but found him guilty of the technical offence of not taking disciplinary action against the lance-corporals after being assaulted. Sentence will be promulgated.

INDIAN GENERAL ELECTION. — A Reuter's Simla message states that Lord Reading, the Viceroy, yesterday dissolved the Legislative Assembly, and directed that a general election should be held in December. The new Assembly will meet in Delhi in the middle of January.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST WOMAN. — At Worcester yesterday, Elizabeth Kirkham, of Sutton Coldfield, was committed for trial on the charge of murdering her lover, John William Burkeley Holloway, a marine. The charge was the outcome of an alleged suicide pact, the Coroner's jury having returned a verdict of wilful murder against Kirkham, who admitted writing a letter, which indicated that both were about to die.

THE BELFAST MURDER.

"A PRE-ARRANGED CRIME."

The circumstances of the murder of the Belfast publican, Mr. John Shevlin, as he left his licensed shop, 42 Old Park road, on Tuesday evening, 4th inst., were investigated by the Belfast Coroner (Dr. James Graham) yesterday.

BROTHER'S EVIDENCE.

James Shevlin said that his brother only took over the premises on the 15th August, 1923. They left the shop about 10.15 p.m. on Tuesday, 4th inst., to go for supper, and intended to return to the place, as they slept there. They separated outside the door, and the witness had only gone about fifty yards when he heard shots. He looked round and saw three men dashing away from the footpath down a side street. A tramcar was close by.

Cross-examined by Mr. M'Sparran—The witness said that his brother lived on the premises, but got his food "down town." He had not received any threatening letters, nor had he any trouble with any of the people in the neighbourhood.

Mr. M'Sparran—Had he any suspicion, do you think, that trouble was threatening?

Witness—He was a bit nervous on account of coming into a strange place. I was a bit nervous myself.

You had no opportunity of seeing the men? No.

Before he came here had he lived in any other part of the town? He was an assistant in a place in Divis street.

Had he ever had a shop of his own? He had, in Fox street, on the Newtownards road.

Had he any trouble with the people there? No.

Was he ever wrecked? There might have been one evening when he was wrecked, but others were wrecked on the same occasion.

John Haughey, a motorman in the employment of the Corporation, said that he drove a car up the Old Park road on the night in question. He noticed a few men on the footpath and what appeared to be a scuffle. Three shots were fired and three men started to run down Benwell street. The deceased man staggered on to the roadway, and fell in front of the tramcar. The witness applied the emergency brakes and stopped the tramcar. The gate of the lifeguard struck the man, and his foot got caught underneath the car, which had to be jacked up to release him. He believed that the man was then dead.

Edward J. Clarke, a "B" Special, said that he was going up the Old Park road about 10.20 on the night of the 4th September, and when approaching the corner of Benwell street he heard two shots immediately in front of him. He saw the flashes, and then a man staggered and fell in front of the tramcar. The man was breathing when he saw him, but he never spoke, and died in a few minutes.

Dr. M'Kinney-Nixon said that the right lung was perforated, and she gave it as her opinion that death was due to shock, following two gunshot wounds.

TRACING THE MURDERERS.

District Inspector Nixon said that he wished to express the great regret of the Constabulary that such a thing should have occurred. It was unnecessary to say that inquiries had been, and were being, made, and no stone would be left unturned to trace the murderer or murderers.

Mr. James M'Sparran said that one of the chief interests that he had in the case at present was to prove that it was a murder committed by an unlawful assembly, and that at least three persons were engaged in it. There was absolutely no doubt of that, and also that it was a preconceived and prearranged crime, which was carried out in a very callous and brutal manner. Everything had apparently been cut and dried. So far as the evidence of the witnesses went, no motive could be assigned for the crime. It might be an attempt to revive the conditions prevailing in the city some time ago, or it might be due to some petty personal spite against this unfortunate man. If the idea of the persons who committed the crime was to revive the conditions prevailing in the city in the past they would find the circumstances absolutely different. If the perpetrators of this crime thought to revive this sort of thing they would find that public opinion was against it and it would not be tolerated.

The Coroner, in returning a verdict that death was due to shock and hemorrhage, following gunshot wounds wilfully inflicted by some member or members of an unlawful assembly, said that the whole citizens of Belfast absolutely abhorred these proceedings. He quite agreed with Mr. M'Sparran that if there was an attempt to revive the happenings of some time ago the feelings of the people of all denominations were totally changed, and those who attempted it would find it a futile failure. He hoped that this would be the last of these proceedings.

POSTERS IN PUBLIC PLACES.

CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION AND DISFIGUREMENT.

Mr. Howard H. Hely, Secretary of the Dublin Citizens' Association, having written to the Town Clerk calling attention to the "disfigurement" of bridges and public places by posters, the Town Clerk writes, under date 11th September, acknowledging the letter, and he adds:—

"I have circularised the several Corporation departments, and given instructions for the cleaning of all Corporation property so disfigured.

"The principal bridges—viz., O'Connell Bridge, Grattan Bridge and Butt Bridge—are the property of the Dublin Port and Docks Board, and I am, accordingly, sending a copy of your letter to the Secretary of that Board.

"The Corporation has no power to compel owners of private property, so disfigured, to clean off the posters or inscriptions, as this matter is one solely for the owners themselves."

An Exhibition of Australian Art is to be held at the Royal Academy, London, early in October. This is the first occasion on which an exhibition of this sort has taken place. The exhibition has been organised by the Society of Artists in Australia as a means of demonstrating to the British public the standard which art has reached in Australia. The collection will represent the best works of art executed in the Commonwealth. Every Australian artist has been given an opportunity of forwarding examples of his work for selection.

PROTEST AGAINST KENYA SETTLEMENT.

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

Sir P. Thakurdas, non-official member of the Council of State, speaking yesterday evening at a meeting of protest against the Kenya decision, demanded the reversal of the settlement arrived at. He called upon the Indians to stand fast, and added—"It is all very fine for those not affected by the decision to tell them to keep their heads cool and to talk of moderation, but I am sure that if their own birthrights had been affected they would have gone much faster, and spoken much harder things."—(Reuter.)

Mr. W. G. Layton, Deputy Town Clerk of Sydney, Australia, who has been commissioned by the Sydney City Council to visit England, the Continent, and America in order to study modern civic administration, has arrived in London.

HELP FOR JAPAN.

WORK OF THE RED CROSS IN AMERICA.

THE POPE'S DONATION.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Among the latest earthquake casualties reported from Tokio are those of seventy men, who were killed while in church praying.

Although the original five million dollars, which the President appealed for to aid the sufferers in Japan has already been exceeded, and contributions are still coming in, the Red Cross Society declares that continued donations are necessary, in view of late advices which have been received regarding the extent of the catastrophe in Japan.

Nine Red Cross ships carrying thousands of tons of clothing, building materials, food, etc., have already sailed, or will sail in a few days, from the Pacific coast ports. The commodities shipped have necessitated the expenditure of nearly two and a half million dollars.

President Coolidge has expressed to the chairman of the Red Cross his personal gratification at the response which America has made to his appeal for assistance for Japan—(Reuter.)

The Pope (says Reuter's Rome Correspondent) has sent a sum of 20,000 dollars to the Apostolic Delegation in Washington for remittance to Tokio for the benefit of the earthquake sufferers.

Reuter's Agency has been informed by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel that the following cable has been received from Mrs. Bickersteth at Karuizawa:—"Publish. All Anglican missionaries Japan safe."

DANGEROUS DRIVING.

NAVAL COMMANDER FINED.

Commander John Hugh Bainbridge, aged forty-four, described as independent, whose address was given as Elfordleigh, Plympton, South Devon, was charged at the Marlborough street Police Court, London, yesterday, with being drunk while in charge of a motor car, and with driving in a dangerous manner at Hyde Park, and also with assaulting Ernest A. Wiggins, a painter.

It was stated for the police that on September 4th Miss Lilian Reddington, a clerk, was cycling towards Hyde Park corner, when a motor car, driven by defendant, ran into her bicycle from behind, throwing her off and injuring her. Defendant, who was not going at more than ten miles an hour, pulled up quickly. A police constable asked defendant to get out of the car. When he did so he was very unsteady, and staggered about in the roadway. When Wiggins offered assistance, as he had seen what occurred, defendant struck him in the face with his open hand.

Dr. Spurgin, Divisional Police Surgeon, said that he had no doubt that accused was drunk, and Police Inspector White said that accused was undoubtedly drunk.

In reply to the magistrate, Dr. Spurgin said that the defendant was probably not drunk in the ordinary sense of the term. Sometimes shock might render a man in a state of sobriety so excited that he would appear to be drunk.

Defendant said that the only drink he had that day was one bottle of bass at lunch.

Several witnesses stated that accused was sober.

Mr. Mead acquitted defendant of the charge of being drunk, but fined him £20, and three guineas costs, for driving in a dangerous manner, and £2 for the assault.

FAMILY QUARREL.

FATHER SHOT; SON ARRESTED

A quarrel occurred yesterday at Smalley, near Ilkeston, resulting in the death of Tom Henry Braddock, aged 49, colliery banksman, and the arrest of his son, Frederick Braddock, a lad of 17.

Hearing the discharge of a gun in the cottage where the family lived, some men entered the house and found the elder Braddock lying dead on the floor, death being due to gunshot wounds in the face and body. There is said to have been violent quarrelling between father and son. The son was taken to Ilkeston Police Station.

BOMBS IN BELFAST.

WORKMAN'S DISCOVERY.

A man informed two Special policemen in Belfast yesterday morning that he had found a parcel containing bombs in garden plots in Ravenhill avenue.

The policemen visited the spot, and saw a parcel, in which were two large and two small bombs. They were probably placed there by some person who wished to get rid of them.

During a search in the New Lodge road district the police found a .45 Webley revolver, with holster, and a quantity of ammunition.

ALLEGED £1,000 THEFT OF TEA.

FIVE MEN ARRESTED.

Seven men are alleged to have been concerned in the theft of a lorry-load of tea, valued at £1,000, while in transit from Whitechapel to Gloucester. Five have been arrested; two are "wanted."

At the Marylebone Police Court, George Gardner, 38, grocer, of Rodney street, Pentonville; Denis Hearn, 37, cartage contractor, of Muriel street Caledonian road; William Victor Burridge, 36, commercial traveller, of Oakley Gardens, Hornsey; Robert Frederick Holmes, 35, labourer, of Kelvin road, Highbury; and Joseph Gardner, 30, grocer, of Donegal street, Islington, were charged before Mr. C. K. Francis with being concerned with two others in stealing 3 tons 18 cwt. of tea, in 158 packages, value £1,000, the property of Rickards Transport, Ltd., of 12 Theobold's road. They were further charged with receiving the tea, well knowing it to have been stolen. So far, the police say they have recovered 90 out of the 158 packages. The theft is alleged to have occurred between Thursday and Friday last.

Detective Sergeant Hastings gave evidence of the arrest of the prisoners, in conjunction with Inspector Gillan, Detective Kelahin, and Police Constable King, and said he subsequently recovered 32 packages, each containing 56lb. to 60lb. of tea, from a loft in Wolsey Mews, at the back of 222 Kentish Town road, and 58 similar packages from a shed at the side of 49 Muriel street, Islington. All the 32 packets were marked, "Co-operative Wholesale Society, Ltd.," and were labelled for different addresses at Cheltenham.

A remand was ordered, all except Hearn and Holmes being admitted to bail.

DUNDEE MEAT PRICES.

ARE BUTCHERS "PROFITEERING"?

The Committee of the Dundee Town Council which is investigating the prices of butchers' meat, which are alleged to be higher than those in other Scottish cities, yesterday decided to purchase several sides of prime beef and sell them in the open market. The object is to ascertain whether or not the butchers are "profiteering."

BULLOCK EXAMINES AN ART COLLECTION.

Mr. Hugh Blaker, a collector of pictures, of Church street, Isleworth, received a startling visitor. A young bullock entered his front door, swished his tail, and surveyed the valuable paintings for a quarter of an hour.

Happily, the visitor was well mannered, and knew when not to use his horns and hoofs. No damage was done.

From the safest point, the window-sill, the drover tried to persuade the animal to leave. At last he managed to prod the bovine art critic out by way of the back door.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.—The third and fourth rounds of the Amateur (Open) Championship were played at Newcastle, Co. Down, yesterday. Mr. F. P. McConnell, the eighteen-year-old golfer, who provided one of the most surprising incidents in the history of the "Open" by defeating Dr. J. D. McCormack, the Close champion, in the second round, was beaten in the third by Mr. W. Henderson (Bangor). On the left we give a picture of Mr. McConnell. In the other picture Mr. D. E. B. Soulby (centre) is seen with Mr. A. Lowe (right), last year's winner, whom he defeated in the second round. Mr. Soulby won his matches yesterday by 8 and 6 and 5 and 4.

FOYLE FISHERY RIGHTS.

IRISH SOCIETY'S LEASE CHALLENGED.

IMPORTANT DONEGAL PROSECUTION.

The validity of the Irish Society's lease, dated January 20, 1919, to the Foyle Fishery Company, Sir Charles Petrie and others, was challenged during the hearing of a fishery prosecution at Moville District Court on Tuesday. Mr. L. J. Walsh, District Justice, eventually adjourned the case.

The prosecution was brought by James Brown, Fishery Inspector, at the instance of the Conservators of Fisheries, the crews of three boats from the Quigley's Point district being summoned for illegally using a salmon net, and also for illegally fishing within the limits of a several fishery. Only two cases were dealt with at the hearing.

Mr. W. S. McDermott appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. T. E. Conaghan defended.

At the outset of the case, Mr. M'Dermott said that the Department of Agriculture had informed him that, for the present, Boards of Conservators operating partly in Northern Ireland and partly in the Free State would function as hitherto. He mentioned the area over which the Conservators had jurisdiction, and said that the Irish Society's several fishery at Lough Foyle included the whole of the Lough.

Evidence having been given by the Fishery Inspector with regard to the alleged offences, Mr. Conaghan said that the evidence just heard was unworthy of credence, and he denied that there was a several fishery in the Foyle.

IRISH SOCIETY'S TITLE.

Mr. McDermott said that the title of the Irish Society to this fishery was produced in the case before Judge Overend in Derry, and it was there proved that it was a several fishery. The present lessees held it from the Irish Society for 31 years under lease (which he produced), dated 20th January, 1919, and the Irish Society got their rights in the river and lough by charter from the Crown in 1662. That was the only possible way they could get it.

Mr. Conaghan said that the Irish Society could not possibly get this by charter subsequent to Magna Charta. Halsbury's Laws of England laid down that private or several fisheries in tidal waters owe their origin to some Act of the Crown before Magna Charta, whereby the public right of fishing was excluded and the fishery was either made exclusive for the Crown or for some subject. As fisheries of this class could not now be created except by Act of the Legislature the public right of fishing, when it had existed since Magna Charta, could not now be excluded under the prescription Act, or by statutes of limitation.

The charter under which the Irish Society purported to act was granted by Charles II. in 1662. That was many years subsequent to Magna Charta. The Charter was a grant from the Crown direct, not an Act of the Legislature. It was not a legal Act, and the public right of fishing could not be excluded by it. The lease, which flagrantly set aside the law, was not worth the paper it was written on.

Mr. M'Dermott replied that in a case decided on March 10th, 1856, it was held that the Irish Society had a right to all the fish in the river and Lough Foyle. He submitted that the Court was bound by the decision that this was a several fishery.

CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Conaghan said the change of Government in Ireland made a great difference. The ownership of the soil or bed of the river had got to be determined. The people did not really know their position to-day.

Mr. Walsh said he thought it would be better to adjourn the cases, so that they would have an opportunity of looking into the law.

Mr. M'Dermott, agreeing, said that this was a very complex question. Unless the two States would work together he did not see anything but ruination facing the fisheries. The Conservators used the money they got from Donegal to protect the fisheries in Donegal, and he did not see why the authorities in both areas could not work harmoniously together.

Adjourning the case, Mr. Walsh said the question of a several fishery was most important, and should be fought out.

MOTION FOR RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONERS.

A resolution demanding the immediate release of all political prisoners and internees in the Free State will be considered at the meeting of the Dublin Municipal Council on Monday next. The meeting will also consider reports from the various Committees.

The resolution calling for the release of the prisoners is in the name of Councillor Michael Flanagan, and is as follows:—

"Be it hereby resolved that, in the opinion of this Municipal Council in ordinary meeting assembled, the time has arrived when all persons, interned or otherwise, for what are considered political offences, ought to be set free immediately.

"Further, we, the members of this Council, hold the view that the action of releasing the prisoners will be an interpretation of the manifest desire of the electorate which found definite expression in the recent elections; again, we would impress on the responsible authority the strongly-supported view that such a course of policy at the moment would do more to restore harmony and promote the national ideal in our midst than any other alternative now placed before the people of Ireland."

VETERINARY APPOINTMENT.

The Finance and General Purposes Committee will recommend the appointment of Mr. J. M. Murphy, M.R.C.V.S. (senior temporary veterinary assistant) to the permanent staff, as Assistant Veterinary Inspector, at a salary of £525 per annum, rising by annual increments of £25 to a maximum of £750. The scale, £500 to £750, would not carry war bonus.

The Finance and General Purposes Committee will recommend that the Local Government Department should be requested to sanction the permanent appointment of Dr. Harrington as Resident Medical Superintendent at Crooksling Sanatorium, at a salary of £500 per annum, to be increased by £25 yearly to a maximum of £750.

MARINO HOUSING SCHEME.

The Housing, Workshops, and Supplies Committee recommend acceptance of the tender of Mr. John Kenny, Harcourt road, Dublin, for the construction of 231 houses under the Marino Housing Scheme. The cost of the work would be £136,282, instead of £149,000. Mr. Kenny's original tender, which the Local Government Minister had considered too high.

Certain alterations having been proposed by the Minister with a view to reducing the cost per house to a figure which would justify him in defraying the usual proportion thereof out of national funds, Mr. Kenny had reduced his price to the Minister's satisfaction. The average cost per house now would be £590.

The Committee further report that the Local Government Minister took the view that it was not reasonably possible to provide more than 200 houses, approximately, within one year, and, therefore, that it was inadvisable, in a falling market, to contract for a greater number of houses at the prices at present prevailing.

They accepted the views of the Minister, and had received an undertaking from Mr. Kenny to complete the erection of 231 houses (the entire scheme provides for 428 houses) within twelve months. It was desirable that the work should be started without delay.

In regard to the reinforced concrete carriageways, the Committee recommended the acceptance of Mr. Kenny's tender of £6,167, which the Local Government Minister had sanctioned.

THE HOLY LAND

INTERESTING EXHIBITION IN DUBLIN.

A very interesting exhibition arranged in connection with the Hibernian Church Missionary Society was opened by the Rev. E. G. Sullivan, Rector of Rathfarnham, in the Town Hall, Rathmines, yesterday afternoon. "Glimpses of Palestine," represented by scenes and tableaux illustrative of life and customs there, were the chief features.

For these Miss M. B. McConaghy, O.B.E., and Miss Goryieb, who have been resident in Palestine for almost twenty-five years, were responsible. The costumes were very pretty and lent a pleasing atmosphere to the exhibition.

A room in the hall was given over for the purpose of a model hospital, where talks on hospital work were given during the day by the Rev. A. G. Alexander, M.D., who is stationed at Hebron, Palestine. He was assisted by Miss Law. A table of curios was on view, and foreign goods and textiles were on sale.

A most enjoyable concert, arranged by Mr. W. E. Hopkins, was contributed to by Madame Alicia Keogh, Miss Lilian Whittaker, Miss Alice Bell (solo piano); and Messrs. H. C. A. Thieme (solo violin), H. W. Ashton, and Wesley Guard. A Service conducted by the Rev. L. P. Hill, Zion Church, was held at the conclusion of the exhibition.

The Palestine Exhibition will be repeated at North Strand to-morrow.

OLD MAN'S DEATH.

CORONER'S CORRECTION.

The Belfast Coroner (Dr. James Graham), at the City Hall, yesterday, speaking with reference to a statement made at the inquest on Israel Carson, a Lisburn man, who had been in California, said he regretted that the man's "friends in Lisburn" had been mentioned.

The remark was intended to apply to his relatives at Carr, and he understood that his Lisburn friends, who had behaved very well in the matter, had arranged to give the poor unfortunate man a decent funeral, and not have his laid in a pauper's grave.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A BELATED SWIFT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Having been in New Zealand during the last ten years, I am not acquainted with the migratory movements of the swifts in recent years, but I was much surprised to-day to see a swift flying boldly about over the fields of the coast road which leads from Skerries to Balbriggan. So far as I observed the bird was a solitary one. I concluded that it must have belonged to a very late brood, but as the young are said to migrate before the parent birds, any young bird delaying so late as this would, one would expect, have to weather unfavourable conditions.

I would be interested to know if any other observers have seen swifts so late. My wife and I had a very good view of this bird for a period of over five minutes, and there is no doubt whatever of its being a swift.

While writing I might mention seeing four or five scald crows about the rocks near Barnageara Bay. This species was never to be seen at Skerries in the several years during which I was a close observer of bird-life here a decade ago.—Yours, etc.,

RAILWAY CHARGES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I shall be obliged if you will permit me through the medium of your valuable paper to draw public attention to what, at first sight in any case, appears to be a gross imposition on the already high cost of living to the unfortunate consumer.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement in the public Press of the raising of the Customs barrier against goods coming into the Irish Free State appeared the announcement that the English railway companies had decided to impose a charge, additional to their freight charges (which are already excessive) to recoup them for the services which the raising of the barrier would necessarily entail, and this in turn was soon adopted by the Irish companies.

The scale of charges advised by the companies varies according to the nature of the consignment from 2d. to 6s. 8d. per consignment, which, of course, will be accommodated to the retail price to the consumer.

It will readily be seen that the amount collected on the multitude of consignments carried by the companies will more than recoup the companies for their actual outlay, and will represent a source of revenue to the companies to the disadvantage of both the consumer and the Government.

Customs duties are a source of Government revenue, and the expenses incidental to the securing and collection of same are, or should be, provided for in the Dail estimates, and the railway companies have no more right to reap a revenue from such a source than has Dail Eireann to budget for one penny in excess of the actual expenditure required to meet the public services.

It behoves the Dail and other trade bodies to give this matter the attention that it demands, and inquire into its legality.—Yours, etc.,

"CONSUMER."

AEROPLANE ACCIDENTS.

STOPPAGE OF POWER PLANT.

One of the sub-committees of the Aeronautical Research Committee is entrusted with the investigation of accidents (says Engineering), and, as a result of their experiences, have come to the conclusion that the stoppage of the power plants is one of the most frequent initial causes of accidents to aeroplanes. Stoppages have been caused by broken pistons and cylinders, valve mechanisms, etc., but about 25 per cent. of those recorded were due to comparatively minor faults in the petrol system and a considerable proportion to defects in the ignition arrangements. The elimination, as far as possible of such involuntary stoppages is thus a matter of primary importance both to the Royal Air Force and to the aerial transport firms, and, with this object in view, a recommendation has been made to the Air Ministry that a group of technicians should be appointed for the sole purpose of investigating the power plant stoppages which occur at the various Air Force stations. It is thought that this course would result not only in a reduction in the number of machines and engines written off on account of accidents, but would also direct attention to the more urgent problems and tend to assist in their early solution.

The prevention of fire, both in the air and after a crash, is obviously a matter of the utmost importance, especially in connection with the development of civil aerial transport, and is, therefore, a subject that falls well within the scope of the Committee's investigations. The Sub-Committee which deals with this branch of the work, has reported to the Air Ministry on the arrangement of petrol systems, pointing out that simplification of some of the systems in use would not only reduce the risk of fire, but also render the power plant less liable to stoppage. In the case of certain multi-engined aircraft, it is suggested that simplification would result from the use of a gravity feed and a common collector box, and also from the placing of the petrol pumps inside the tanks.

The gravity-feed system is considered always to be preferable to any form of pressure feed, and the introduction of safety valves, or bursting discs, in all petrol tanks is also advocated. The fire risks and liability to stoppage arising from the use of petrol-resisting tubing and soldered joints in petrol pipes are said to be high, and there is some risk from the use of the newer form of tubing known as "Petroflex," in which the petrol-resisting material is gold-beaters' skin. All-metal pipe lines are, therefore, considered to be preferable to any other form of piping for the petrol system. Experimental work is now in progress with the object of reducing the temperature of the exhaust pipe, and also to determine the correct size of safety vent pipes for petrol tanks. A light fireproof bulkhead has been designed and tested at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, with satisfactory results.

THE THIRD AND FOURTH ROUNDS.

MAJOR HEZLET'S FINE PLAY.

THE PROBABLE FINALISTS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday Night.

We have now arrived at a stage in the struggle for the Blue Riband of Irish Golf when it is possible to venture an opinion regarding the probable result of this most interesting championship. When the day's play had come to a close it was generally considered that the best golf of the week had been produced by Major Hezlet in the top half, and that the honours in the lower half rested with Major Martin. But after watching both these fine golfers I have come to the conclusion that nothing bar an accident can prevent the ultimate triumph of Major Hezlet. It is as certain as anything in golf can be. He played splendid golf to-day in both his matches, but his most striking achievement was his remarkable victory over Dr. Wilson Smyth, the winner of two years ago, in gaining which the Royal Portrush man gave quite a dazzling exhibition of golf. His figures for fourteen holes of this trying course were three under fours, although the conditions for play had undergone a decided change, as the result of heavy rain which came on before the third round had concluded, and which continued right up to the end of play.

Major Martin also showed brilliance in his fourth round match with C. H. West, going out in 36, but although Hezlet and Martin distinguished themselves so much there are others left in who may yet upset all estimates. One of these is John Lambie, of Troon, who so decisively defeated L. E. Werner, the Dublin University student, who ran up for the Native Championship. Others are Joseph Gorry, H. M. Cairnes, and D. E. Soulby, each of whom played golf quite good enough to win any of our championships of recent years. Indeed, the manner in which Cairnes has won his four matches, particularly his success over Ector Munn this evening, has been not the least noteworthy feature of a week crowded with features. Anyway, we are assured of a splendid wind up compared to other years' open championships, but the outlook this evening is distinctly favourable to Major Hezlet.

The third round matches did not furnish a solitary surprise, and while several were won a long way from home, others went to the 19th, and beyond it. The golfers split up between Major Hezlet and F. W. Burnside and D. E. Soulby and W. R. Knox, the last pair old Senior Cup rivals; but interest in the first-named match soon evaporated, for Hezlet at once took control of the game. He turned with a lead of 4, and, playing good golf homewards, won it at the 12th. D. Wilson Smyth had an easy win over F. G. Dickson, and so had to go out in the evening with Hezlet. L. Harrington continued to progress, this time at the expense of J. S. Scott, but the latter made a fine match of it to the home hole, where the Royal Dublin man prevailed.

That fine young golfer, Charles Carroll, beat a seasoned veteran in Fred Davies at the 17th. Davies missed a short putt, one of two feet, at the 5th, and this seemed to upset him, for afterwards he did not play as well as he had up to that point. When the turn was reached Carroll, who had 3 at the 9th, was one up, and a 2 at the next gave him an additional advantage. Hereafter the Ormeau man's star was in the ascendant. He had a good 4 at the 11th, and ultimately became dormy 5, but a dogged struggle ensued to the 17th hole, when Davies was beaten. Joseph Gorry began his match with T. W. Johnson with three 5's, and he required 7 at the 4th. Still, he was out in approximately 42, turned 5 up, and brought the match to a close at the 12th.

The long-drawn-out out match of the three days was the struggle between E. Kilduff and John Lambie, of Troon, which went to the 20th, where Kilduff was defeated. The young Milltown stylist seems fated not to get beyond the third round of a championship. The first two holes were taken by Lambie, and in turning all square Kilduff did very well. He was still on an equality going to the 12th, which he lost; but then he played capital golf to win the next three in 4's, and so was 2 up with 3 to play; but Lambie snatched the next two, and, Kilduff taking three putts on the home green, they went on to the nineteenth, which was halved in a poor 6, and Lambie, down in 4 at the twentieth, won the hole and match.

L. E. Werner and J. Nugent had a great struggle all the way to the home green. Neither played good golf, however. Nugent having a temporary breakdown after the turn, at which point he had a lead of one hole. With four to go Werner was 3 up, but he took three putts at the fifteenth, and was again at fault at the sixteenth, where he might have holed a putt for 2, a half resulting. He unaccountably failed with a two-footer at the seventeenth for the match, but, dormy 1, he won on the home green, but had Nugent got down in two putts they would have had to go to the nineteenth.

P. C. Burton, of Porter's Park, London, is a member of an old Burton family, the Burtons of Burton Hall, and a brother-in-law of the late Lord Northcliffe. He was educated at St. Andrew's College, Dublin. Up to the twelfth hole of his match with the favourite it was anybody's game. Burton's work on the greens with a wooden putter was deadly, but just when it was becoming most interesting heavy rain came on, and Burton's putting on the wet greens broke down. It was a hard match to the ninth, which Martin won to square. He went into the lead again at the eleventh but was decidedly lucky to halve the twelfth in 5, for Burton, on in two good shots, did not hit his putt hard enough, and Martin, on in 4, snatched a half. Burton had another chance at the next hole, where Martin rushed his iron shot into a clump of whins in a big bunker, but the Porter's Park man pulled his second, and after Martin had recovered finely, and holed a long putt, his opponent was unable to halve it. Martin took the fourteenth in 3 to 4, and was now 3 up and 4 to go, and two halves following, Martin won 3 and 2; but on the 15th Burton missed a short putt for the hole.

C. A. West and C. P. Sanderson, of Torwoodlea, fought it out to the 19th, where the Delgany man pulled it off. They were all flat at the 9th, but West was 2 down after playing the 14th. He won the 15th in 4, and the 16th, also in 4, to square, and the home hole being halved in 5, they crossed over to the 18th, which West won in 5.

The conqueror of Dr. MacCormack got no further, being beaten 1 up by W. Henderson, and, after being all square at the turn with C. W. Robertson, of Delgany, Ector Munn got home on the 17th. Munn was not getting his drives away well, but his golf was otherwise quite good. He had 3's at the 10th and 11th, to become 2 up, but Robertson had 4 and 3 at the 13th and 14th, to draw level. Munn, however, finished strongly, and 4 at the 15th and 3 at the 17th gave him the entry into the fourth round by 2 and 1. H. M. Cairnes had another substantial win, this time over F. J. Byrne, North-West, whom he beat 4 and 2; but the biggest triumph of the round was D. E. Soulby's 8 and 7 win over W. R. Knox. Soulby had every reason to fear the Malone man, who had beaten him twice in Cup-ties, but on this occasion Knox was well outplayed. The Belgian Champion had rarely, if ever, played a better or a more confident game. He went ahead at the 1st, and though he played the 4th and 6th somewhat indifferently, being short with his approach shots to each, he turned 5 up, and had a ridiculously easy passage into the next round.

The fourth round was noteworthy for the brilliant golf which Major Hezlet again produced in his match with Dr. Wilson Smyth. The local player was simply overwhelmed by the Royal Portrush giant, who was out in 34 for a lead of two holes. At the 10th, which Smyth looked like winning, he laid himself a stymie. Thereafter Hezlet was invincible, and when the match ended in his favour by the extraordinary margin of 6 and 4. He was three under fours. C. H. West was feeling the strain when he went out with Martin, but on this occasion he had not to go to the nineteenth, the match ending at the seventeenth. Martin played splendid golf. He was 5 up at the ninth, with an average of fours, and after West had won the tenth in 2 his opponent never looked back. C. A. Carroll brought about the elimination of L. Harrington on the seventeenth in a finely-contested match. He lost his half-way lead of 2 at the eleventh, and after he had won the twelfth he lost his lead again at the next hole. Harrington missed short putts at the fourteenth and fifteenth, and the match finished as stated.

Carroll, however, was at no time down to his opponent.

J. Lambie gave L. E. J. Werner no quarter, the 'Varsity man succumbing by 7 and 5, but Joseph Gorry had a great match with T. L. Heald, of Birkdale, which went to the nineteenth. This was one of the best matches of the day. At the ninth Gorry was fairly comfortable, leading by two holes, but the Englishman snatched three holes running, holing for 3. At the twelfth, from bunker trouble Gorry lost his advantage. Five halves followed, but Gorry won the last hole in 5, and with Heald in trouble on the left from his drive to the nineteenth, Gorry took the hole in 5 for the match. H. M. Cairnes sprang a surprise by defeating Ector Munn, who was 2 down at the halfway stage, from which point the North-West golfer never got in front. Details:—

DUBLIN FIRE BRIGADE.

NEW APPARATUS RECOMMENDED

The Waterworks and Markets Committee of the Dublin Corporation have presented a report on the equipment of the Fire Brigade and the remuneration of the staff.

As the result of the investigations of Councillor Loughlin and Captain Myers in some of the chief cities in England, they recommend the provision of certain new apparatus, with the possibility of closing down one or more sub-stations.

The Committee have drawn up a revised scale of pay for the staff, based on the rates and conditions of service prevalent in several English and Scottish fire brigades.

UNIVERSITY COURSE IN BELL-RINGING.

The course of musical studies at Birmingham University is to include bell-ringing. This innovation is due to the initiative of Professor Granville Bantock, who suggests that the University might also undertake the publication of certain pieces of bell music, students of campanology having hitherto been without any resources in that respect. The subject will be included in an acoustics course, and lectures will be given on bells and bell music by Mr. Starmer, an eminent authority. A special collection of bells is being made for the purposes of demonstration and practice.

LANCASHIRE V. REST OF ENGLAND.

The forethought of the officials, who decided to cover the wicket overnight, avoided what would otherwise have been a long delay in connection with the Blackpool festival. Heavy rain during the night and early hours of the morning made the outfield slow, but thanks to the action taken, play was resumed forty-five minutes after the usual hour. England, with seven wickets to fall, were then 141 runs to the good. Both Bowley and Mead plodded along in the same fashion as they had done overnight, but they both left just after they had completed their individual 50. Mead was at the wickets an hour and three-quarters ere he gained this distinction, while Bowley took just one hour longer. Between them they put on just 100 runs for the fourth wicket. Tennyson hit merrily for twenty minutes and he scored 21, which contained a six, hit off Parkin. The last three wickets fell for 28 runs, and England, with a total of 259, left Lancashire requiring 273 for victory. Going in at a quarter to four, the County collapsed in startling fashion. With only five runs scored the opening pair, Hallows and Watson, were both back in the pavilion, while the third and fourth wickets fell at 15 and 16. Half the side were out for 37, and, despite a capital innings by Pewtress, who hit up 40 in forty minutes, the innings closed for 83, England winning by 189 runs. Score:—

YORKSHIRE V. M.C.C.

The last match of the Scarborough Festival was drawn, rain causing the stoppage of play at five o'clock. Yorkshire made a fine recovery from their first innings failure. They were 95 runs behind when play re-started, with a full innings to complete, Holmes and Sutcliffe having made 72. They carried their partnership to 120, this being their eighth performance of the kind for Yorkshire's first wicket during the current season. Both batsmen played fine cricket, their driving being specially good, while Holmes hit 10 fours and Sutcliffe 8. After minor contributions by Oldroyd and Leyland, Rhodes and Roy Kilner came together at 201, on the fall of the fourth wicket. They established an easy command of the bowling, and added 113 in eighty minutes before Kilner, who hit 5 fours, was caught at mid-on. The innings was prolonged until eight minutes to five, when the closure was applied. Rhodes had then batted in faultless style for two and a quarter hours, and had hit 10 fours. A lead of 135 had then been established. There was little likelihood of a definite finish, and rain caused the match to be drawn without further play. Score:—

THREATENED DISPOSSESSION OF PLOTHOLDERS.

At the monthly Council meeting of the United Irish Plotholders' Union in Dublin, the following resolution was passed:—

"That we view with anxiety the intention of the Department of Agriculture to hand back the areas in their control to the owners at the termination of the present season, as this would dispossess some 600 plotholders in the metropolis alone, nearly all of whom are working men with large families; many of them being only in casual employment and not a few in the army of the unemployed. Indeed it is known to us that more than one family in this city would often go short of food if it were not for the plots. We, therefore, feel that any such action, as indicated, would naturally result in increased distress, particularly in Dublin, where there is so much unemployment at present, and that we ask the Minister for Local Government to receive a deputation from the Union, to enable us to put all the facts before him."

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

THE ST. LEGER.

PAPYRUS BEATEN.

TRANQUIL'S DECISIVE VICTORY.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

DONCASTER, Wednesday Night.

The tale of the St. Leger in which Tranquil beat Papyrus by a couple of lengths this afternoon is a tale of a whole string of well-fancied horses who failed to stay. Twelve Pointer failed to stay, Ellangowan failed to stay, and the two fillies in the race with abundant stamina occupied the first and third places. There is some excuse to be made for the defeat of Papyrus in that he met with interference and was struck into and put about; but a quarter of a mile from home he had every chance, and was possibly beaten on his merits.

The contract for his match in America was signed this morning, but he will not go now as the best British three-year-old. He is only second-best on to-day's running, which must be accepted as true.

Tranquil is Lord Derby's second St. Leger winner, but he was not at Doncaster to see her win. Indeed, the confidence behind her was not overwhelming, for it was feared that she had not quite recovered her brilliant Spring form, and the ground was a little too hard for her. It was a sound move on Mr. Lambton's part when, after the going had turned very hard at Newmarket, he sent her to Charles Morton at Wantage. She looked a truly magnificent filly when she came into the paddock this afternoon, for she is built on the grand scale and stands fully a hand higher than her sister, Selene. She and Parth stood out as the best-looking horses in the field.

PARTH UNABLE TO SUSTAIN THE PACE.

Parth was heavily supported at the finish. Three furlongs from home he was well there, but he could not sustain the pace. Exactly the same remark applies to Twelve Pointer, who was looking far better than he has done at any time this season.

The apprentice must be given great credit for the admirable way in which he rode Tranquil. She went to the front at the start—an admirable one, by the way—and when he had taken a good place he gave her an easy. A quarter of a mile from home he delivered his challenge, and she shot out to settle the pretensions of Papyrus very quickly. Soldumeno occupied a good place in the earlier stages of the race, but never quite looked like having anything to do with the finish; nor did Waygood ever look to have a chance.

Mr. J. B. Joel, I believe, is very much disinclined to release Donoghue from his contract as his first jockey in order to go to America, and Donoghue wired him this afternoon asking for an interview.

CEYLONESE DEFEATS LIGHT DRAGOON

Much of the rest of the racing was interesting. Ceylonese ran a great public trial for the Cesarewitch when he beat Light Dragoon on a light rein in the Rufford Abbey Handicap. Harry Beasley tried all he knew on Light Dragoon, but the other was far too good for him, and he won much more easily than the half-length verdict suggests. Vilna, who is a quiet tip for the Cesarewitch, ran very well, too. With her and Teresina in the stable, Mr. R. Dawson is likely to supply a well-fancied candidate for the Cesarewitch, but the real puzzle for some time will be to guess which is the better of Reg. Day's winners of this week—Apron and Ceylonese.

I wrote at some length of the excellence of the Irish-bred filly, Mink, when she won at Haydock. Minority, whom she beat then, paid tribute to her excellence by winning the Bradgate Nursery in a common canter. Mr. Barry, the breeder of Mink, is offering a good-looking full sister to her at the next Newmarket sales.

INVERMAY'S CLOSE FINISH.

Invermay, who had the reputation of being jady when she was in Ireland, stuck it out well to beat Corban a head in the Melton All-Aged Selling Plate. The best thing of the day was supposed to be Dumas, in the Cleveland Handicap, but he lost a couple of lengths at the start, and was beaten by Greek Bachelor and Morestel. The first three in the Irish Derby were all runners to-day, and Greek Bachelor did far the best of them; but he was running over only a mile.

Mr. Gilpin expected to win the Tattersall Sale Stakes with Major Loder's Luck's Way, but he was well beaten, and it went to Sir Abe Bailey's Colesberg.

TO-DAY'S CARD.

Soldennis is here to run for the Portland Plate to-morrow afternoon, and this honest horse is sure to make the best of them gallop. The race may not take so much winning as usual, for the acceptance was a small one. Suryakumari is expected to run very well, and there are possibilities about Hunting Song, but I believe SCYPHIUS is very well and greatly respected, so I am expecting to see Major Dermott McCalmont's wonderful speedy grey win, with Soldennis as the chief danger to him.

HALCYON is very likely to be started for the Princess Mary Stakes, and I can see nothing that is likely to beat Lord Derby's filly; nor is anything likely to beat Darling's slashing filly, HASTY CATCH in the Rous Plate.

Details of the yearling sales will be found in another column. The prices are generally satisfying to breeders, and are quite up to the average of last year.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

At Dundalk yesterday, Mr. J. J. Parkinson saddled two winners—Lady Flier and Irish Delight both the property of Mr. J. Musker.

The death is announced as having occurred very suddenly of Mr. Richard Herley Lee, of Yarner, Bovey Tracey, South Devon, the owner of the famous racing cutter, Terpsichore.

In an East Side print-shop in New York yesterday the police arrested half a dozen men, and seized counterfeit tickets for the Dempsey-Firpo fight to the value of 50,000 dollars. The authorities are at the same time investigating the activities of speculators who are charging three times the original prices for ringside seats.

The parade was an imposing sight, but the horses were a little late at the post. To start with, some of the horses went through the tapes, but when a start was made Tranquil was the first to show in front, attended by Ellangowan, Twelve Pointer, Old Nic, Teresina, and Eastern Monarch, with Scapino last. This order was maintained until half-way, when Ellangowan assumed the command, with Tranquil next, followed by Twelve Pointer, Doric, and Teresina. At the distance Tranquil once more forced herself to the front, and, never afterwards being headed, won easily by two lengths; a length and a half separated second and third. Parth was fourth, Eastern Monarch fifth, Soldumeno sixth, Twelve Pointer next, and Doric last. Time, 3 mins. 5 secs.

From an excellent start, Sangrail set a strong pace to Kilvemnon, Portlight, Westview, Tomatin and Light Dragoon. About five furlongs from home, Light Dragoon became third, and took the lead at the distance, but he was at once challenged by Ceylonese, who won very easily by half a length; a length and a half separated second and third. Scullion was fourth, Tomatin fifth, and Groomsport sixth.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

Though there is no St. Leger to grace the programme to-day, such races as the Portland Handicap and Princess Mary Stakes should ensure a capital day's sport. The Portland Handicap, I fancy, is between Scyphius and Suryakumari. The latter would appear to be well handicaped on the Goodwood running, but Scyphius was then running outside his best distance, and the form can hardly be taken literally after Scyphius's fine performance at Kempton when easily beating the much-fancied Catalani at a difference of 21lb. All the same, I fancy he will be troubled to give Suryakumari the weight, especially as the distance is close on six furlongs, and so Suryakumari has my vote. Halcyon probably accomplished something well above the ordinary when easily defeating Knight of the Garter at Goodwood, and I fancy her very much for the Princess Mary Stakes. It is an open race, however, and I mark Mirobelle filly, who was unluckily beaten by Dusky Brave at York, and Slippery Jane, who is receiving a good deal of weight, as very dangerous. For the Alexandra Handicap I fancy Puttenden, Argo, and Broken Faith. The first-named is an old friend of mine. He has taken a long while coming to hand, but is now probably at his best, and whatever beats him will, in my opinion, be returned the winner. Argo was heavily supported for the Ebor Handicap, and for a mile and a half ran well. We have to go back a long way to find Broken Faith in winning form, but in his best he is well handicapped. Selections:—

Corporation Handicap—Dowser.
Rous Plate—Hasty Catch.
Portland Stakes—Suryakumari.
Alexandra Handicap—Puttenden.
Princess Mary Stakes—Halcyon.

Wharncliffe Handicap—Dumas.
Scarborough Stakes—Tudor King.

DUNDALK.

CLOSE FINISHES.

BALLINODE WINS AGAIN.

Yesterday's racing at Dundalk was about the best seen at this venue, and now that improvements have been made both on the course and in the enclosure, the prospects for successful reunions in the future seem bright. There were fair-sized fields for all the events and some grand finishes, but the weather, unfortunately, was not favourable, and the heavy rain prior to racing doubtless kept many people away.

Glowanna was regarded as a good thing for the Castlebellingham Hurdle Race, but, well as she ran, she was easily beaten by Speir Bean, who had the race won a long way from home. T. Burns, who rode Glowanna, was to the fore on a couple of occasions later in the afternoon, and it was mainly due to his fine riding that Lady Flier prevailed in a great finish with Goffee for the Tally Ho Plate. For the last two furlongs the two horses ran almost abreast, and it was only in the last fifty yards that Lady Flier gained supremacy. Then in a three-horse race for the Castletown Plate T. Burns, riding Irish Delight, won another very exciting finish with Poiret. Ballinode, the heroine of the Metropolitan Plate on Saturday, had to shoulder a 12lb. penalty for the Dundalk Steeplechase, but with Revelation losing ground at almost every fence Mr. Bentley's mare made light of her task, and scored again in easy style. The much-improved Say put in a capital performance by winning the Exchange Plate, for, slow to begin, the son of Book was far behind the leaders when half the journey had been covered, but making up the ground in rapid style in the straight he outstayed the lot, and won cleverly. Silver Somme and Mask On had a rare tussle in the three miles steeplechase, and the former, staying on the better, won by a couple of lengths. Details:—

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

QUIET, BUT MOSTLY FIRM, MARKETS. RAILS, ROYAL BANKS, AND TOBACCOS STRONG.

There was a very limited business current on 'Change, with irregular price movements in actual dealing. The Funds varied, with Consols, War Loan Fives and Conversion Loan higher, and a decline in War Loan 4½ p.c. and Funding Loan. Banks were mostly idle. Bank Stock was still under sale pressure, but Nationals rallied in tone and price from recent dulness. Royals closed in strong demand at an advance. Guinness quoted in Breweries and were steady. Home Rails were almost drawn blank, but the Ord. Stocks of leading lines were scarce and sellers held for higher prices. Steam, Telegraphs, Trams, Dunlops and Parent Tyres were idle. Alliance Gas issues were quietly supported. Tobacco Shares were good, but Imperial issues alone changed hands. British-American Shares closed strong unofficially. Irish Times Pref. Shares were again in request.

In the Funds Consols rose ⅛ to 58⅛, War Loan 5 p.c. ⅛ to 102¾, and Conversion 3½ p.c. ⅛ to 79⅛; but War Loan 4½ p.c. fell ⅛ to 97⅛ and Funding Loan ⅛ to 92.

Banks were quiet. Bank Stock fell 1 further to 246, but Nationals rallied ⅛ to 19⅛, and Royals were freely bid for at or over last price, 14⅛, but did not offer under about 15, while at the later market 14¾ was paid and bid.

In Breweries Guinness Ord. repeated 36⅛, and Threlfalls Ord. realised 44s. 9d.

Home Rails were firm, but very idle. Dublin and South-Eastern alone changed hands at the earlier market and repeated 20, but Great Northern was ineffectually bid for at 64⅞, the previous price, and Great Southern Ord. closed another ⅛ higher at 51¼ 52 nominally. At the later market Dublin and South-Eastern 4 p.c. "B" Debs. fell 3 to 59 for a small lot. Great Southern Pref. repeated 58¾ and the Guaranteed 63½.

In Gas Alliance rose ⅛ to 7¼, and the 4 p.c. Debs. repeated 65½ for an exceptional lot. Bakery issues were quiet. Johnston Ord. repeated 61s., but the Pref. rose 3d. to 81s. 6d.

In Drapery Shares Pim Bros. 5½ p.c. Pref. were steady at 76s. 3d.

Manufacturing Shares were very quiet. Dyers rose 9d. to 57s. 6d. and Coats Ord. 1½d. to 68s. 10½d., while the Pref. repeated 12½ and Cotton Ord. 50s. 9d. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. fell 3d. to 21s. 10½d. 21s. 9d. Vickers realised 14s., and Thwaites were still wanted at 72s. British-American Tobaccos were over 108s. from the other side. Imperials closed 4½d. better at 72s. 72s. 1½d., and Canadian Imperials rose 6d. to 25s. 6d., after touching 25s. 9d. Courtaulds eased 3d. to 65s.

In Trading, etc., Shares, Brooks Thomas Pref repeated 15s. 4½d. Wallace Bros. Pref. were on offer at 75s. Dublin Granaries repeated 42s. Irish Times Pref. were firm at 65s., and the 2nd Pref. rose 6d. to 15s. Shell Transports were unchanged at 72s. 6d.

LONDON STOCKS STAGNANT.

LISTLESS PRICES.

The Stock markets were almost stagnant, and in the absence of public support, prices had a listless appearance, and business generally was devoid of feature. The demand for investment securities was on a small scale, and among British Funds no changes were recorded on the day.

FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES were quiet and dull. French Loans, however, show a slight improvement, the 5 p.c. rising ½ to 27, and the 4 p.c. ½ to 21½. Japanese New Fives were marked 83 x.d.

HOME RAILS were listless, and the only change was a rise of ½ to 38½ in Southern Pref.-Ord.

Among FOREIGN and COLONIAL RAILS the only change of importance was a gain of a point in Grand Trunk Pacifics Debs. to 29½.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

RISE IN TRINIDADS.

Conditions in the Oil market yesterday remained much the same as on the preceding day, business all round being on an extremely small scale; for, while there was little pressure to sell in any direction, neither was there much demand. Among the leaders, Royal Dutch came into prominence in the early dealings, being bid for at an advance, it being apparently anticipated that support would be received from the Continent for the shares. As this was not forthcoming, the price slipped back, and the shares were offered at the end, a decline being finally recorded. Mexican Eagles left off lower, although they finished slightly above the worst. Shells maintained a fairly steady tone, but, in sympathy with other leading issues, they were quoted a trifle lower. Shrinkages also occurred in Burmahs and Anglo-Persians. A feature of the late dealings was a revival of interest in Trinidad issues. Apex, in particular, received attention, the price responding sharply to a moderate amount of bidding. British Borneos came into request and moved up. Trinidad Leaseholds also strengthened, but United British closed lower. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

We gather from market circles, says the Pall Mall Gazette, that the directors' proposals for the reconstruction of the Commercial Corporation of London involving, as a preliminary step, voluntary liquidation, have been well received. It is a pity that a sentence in the circular accompanying the notice was somewhat vague. We understand that, with one exception, the whole of the creditors, contingent and otherwise, have been wiped out, the exception being a considerable sum due to one of the directors, who has taken over a large number of liabilities himself to assist the concern. In the circular it is stated that in the event of the scheme being carried through, the whole of the creditors will have been satisfied. It appears that the director in question intends to waive all claims against the company. If that is so, it is obvious that the scheme deserves the support which it is receiving.

In orders to remove any misunderstanding, it should be stated that the manufacturers of "Bean" cars are A. Harper, Sons, and Bean, Ltd., or Dudley, Tipton, and Smethwick, an old established concern founded in 1826, and a private limited company whose shares are not, and never have been, quoted on the Stock Exchange list.

A new coal mine containing coal of very good quality has been discovered in Jugo-Slavia, near Ptuj (Slovenia). It will be worked by a British enterprise, which will construct a railway line of seven kilometres, so as to connect the mine with the main line.

The transfer books of the Liverpool Warehousing Company's Debenture Stock will be closed from 17th to 29th instant, inclusive.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

At the public sales two catalogues were submitted, jointly totalling 13,204 bales, and comprised 2,375 bales New South Wales and Queensland, 2,602 Victorian, 38 West Australian, 368 South Australian, 1,317 Cape and Natal, 6,222 New Zealand, also 291 Buenos Ayres. The above proved a fairly attractive assortment, and met with brisk competition from a full attendance of buyers, with home trade and French houses the chief operators. A steady clearance was effected at firm rates for fine classes of merino and cross-bred, but low scoureds were somewhat irregular, while tending in buyers' favour. Withdrawals were rather frequent in the case of medium descriptions, owing to selling limits not being reached.

LONDON MINING MARKET WEAK.

PRICES FALL AWAY.

Steadiness characterised most departments of the Stock Exchange yesterday, but business was very slack in all directions. Mines made a very good start, but subsequently fell away on a little Paris offering of favourites, the set-back in the value of the franc causing some uneasiness in the French capital. Apart from Rand Mines, "Johnnies," Union Corporation, Crown Mines and the Randfonteins, dealings were on a very modest scale. Brakpan continued to attract some attention, and West Springs were in request on provincial account. Johannesburg was doing very little. In the Rhodesian market, Chartered came into request and moved up, and there were fairly large buying orders for Cam and Motor, which also went ahead; but Selukwe left off lower and Rezende fell away. Kafue were a centre of activity, and there was a good deal of nibbling at several of the low-priced descriptions. Diamonds were dullish on Paris advices, and Consolidated Diamonds were on offer from Amsterdam. The only noticeable movement in West Africans was a jump in Fanti Consols, which were freely bid for. Dealings commenced in Akim Pref. Shares round about 25s. Australians were idle, and in the Copper section Paris offering of Rio Tintos resulted in a sharp drop in the price. San Francisco were a centre of attraction, and, although closing below the best, were still substantially higher on the day. Closing prices:—

COMPANY MEETING.

ESPERANZA.

The statutory general meeting of the members of Esperanza, Ltd., was held yesterday at River Plate House, Finsbury Circus, E.C., Mr. Frederick W. Baker presiding. The Acting Secretary, Mr. E. C. Leamant, having read the notice convening the meeting and the report of the auditors, the Chairman said:—Gentlemen, this being the statutory meeting called for the purpose of complying with Section 65 of the Companies Act, there is no resolution to place before you. I do not think that the abstract of the receipts and payments on capital account and otherwise of the company calls for additional explanation from me, except that, perhaps, I should explain that the advance against calls of £17,500 represents the amounts advanced by the company's bankers in order that sundry creditors in Mexico could be satisfied, and work proceeded with without further delay on the timbering of the shaft and purchasing of supplies, which will be called for on the low grade scheme of operations proposed. You will be interested to know that the whole of the shares were largely over-applied for.

BRISTOL WOOL FAIR.

Attendance almost pre-war. Many buyers from North and Midlands prepared to give reasonable prices. Lower class wool met ready sale. Finer fleece bought where prices favourable, but some sellers asking values well in advance of legitimate worth. These found little doing. Quality good. No bales pitched; prices varied according to quality.

THE MONEY MARKET.

PRESSURE FOR LOANS.

Early in the day the pressure for loanable credit was as severe as on Tuesday, and borrowers were bidding 3 p.c. for night money, but gradually supplies were released by a couple of the banks. Day-to-day money settled down to 2½ p.c., and there were balances offering for the night more cheaply, fixtures were 2½ p.c. for renewals. As regards discounts, a great deal of interest is taken in the possible results of the tendering to-day for Manchester Corporation Yearling Bills. Estimates vary considerably. Fine three months' bank bills were still in very short supply, and were hardly better than 3½ p.c. There was a small volume of business doing in the new Treasuries at over 3¼ p.c., and in Novembers at 3 p.c.

Bank Rate (Discount) changed July 5, 1923, 4%.

Gold was 4d. per oz. lower at 90s. Silver declined ⅛d. per oz. spot and ⅛d. for forward delivery to 31⅛d. and 31⅛d., respectively.

There was still a cheerful feeling in the market for foreign exchange yesterday, and the tendency of rates was harder at first, but a reaction set in later on on politics. Francs picked up the rate on Paris, being 78.45-78.50, and on Belgium 94.70-94.80, while Italian lire were down to 101⅛, but reacted to 103⅛. Sterling was steady on New York at 4.54⅛-4.54⅞ dollars, while Dutch florins cheapened to 11.57⅛-11.58; also Swiss francs, which were 25.35-25.40. German marks were still sliding, being 500,000,000-520,000,000 nominal, while Norwegian kroner were easy at 28.20-28.25, with Spain 33.73-33.75. Following yesterday's tenders, Rupees were harder at 1s. 4⅛d. Japanese yen giving way to 2s. 1⅛d.-2s. 1⅛d. Brazilian milreis were better at 5⅛d.-5⅛d., while Argentine dollars were maintained at 39⅛-39⅛. Polish marks were 1,150,000-1,200,000, and Vienna 320,000-325,000. Greek drachmæ were better at 235-255 but Finland were worse again at 173-174. The following are closing prices:—

INDUSTRIALS UNCHANGED.

BUSINESS STILL SHRINKING.

Conditions in the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets yesterday remained much the same as on the preceding day, for while the tone was quite firm there was scarcely sufficient business to go round, except in one or two directions. A fair turn-over was experienced in Iron and Steels, among which J. Brown (fully paid) and Hadfields met with support on Sheffield account and finished better on the day. In some cases, however, prices closed slightly lower on balance. Indo-Chinas further improved among Shipping issues. Bank Shares showed no decided tendency. Cable descriptions displayed firmness, and Wireless issues held their ground. In recent issues Boots Drug Shares continued in demand, but closed below the best of the day. The Tobacco group claimed a good deal of attention, and a feature was the strength of United (Souths), which closed 1s. higher on balance at 66s., while the Deferred also put on that much to 65s. B.A.T. continued their upward movement to 108s. 6d. ex div., though Imperials finished without quotable change at 72s. 3d. Canadas strengthened to 26s. 3d. Movements in the Miscellaneous trading list were again of trifling extent. African and Easterns and Oil Cakes both shed 3d. to 31s. 9d. and 28s. ex div. respectively, though Lever 7 p.c. Prefs. stiffened to 21s. 9d., and the 8 p.c. recovered to 20s. 9d. A small improvement in Amalgamated Press to 49s 9d. ex div. provided the only change in Newspaper Shares.

Cellulose issues were subjected to realisations, which caused a fall of 6d. in both the Ord. and Prefs. to 13s. and 13s. 3d. respectively. Courtaulds receded to 64s. 3d. Bleachers came on offer, and finished 9d. down at 49s. Amalgamated Cottons weakened to 9s. 3d. Bradford Dyers were wanted, and rose 6d. to 57s. 6d. Among Brewery descriptions, Ind Coopes advanced to 1⅛, or 2s. higher on the day. Watney Combe Def. continued their upward movement to 165⅛. Caterers kept steady at previous levels, but in Foodstuffs Van Den Berghs eased to 1⅛, and Maypole Def. to 6s. 9d. Napiers found fresh support in the Motor group, and put on 9d. to 10s., but Rolls Royce lost ⅛ at 1⅛. Tokyo Bonds remained at 7 discount; London Electrics rose to 43s., and Urban Debs. to 4 prem. Lyons Pref. recovered to 25s.

Since January, 239,000 cases of malaria have been recorded in the Ukraine province of Russia.

Stocks and Shares for Deferred Delivery Account.

By this method of dealing, investors may buy any freely marketable security, quoted above 5/-, making an initial payment of 20 per cent. (one-fifth) in cash or securities of the amount of purchase money, the remainder being paid at their own convenience, or may be left outstanding indefinitely. On the amount of unpaid purchase money we charge interest at the rate of 1 per cent. per annum above Bank Rate. After paying the 20 per cent. (one-fifth) of the amount of purchase money, a client is entitled to sell the security at any moment, receiving his deposit back plus any profit or minus any loss.

All dividends, bonuses, and rights are credited to the buyer's account. Transfer stamps and fees are not charged unless the security purchased is taken up. We are prepared to make advances against approved marketable securities up to 80 per cent. of their market value, charging interest at the rate of 1 per cent. per annum above Bank Rate on the amount advanced. It will be seen, therefore, that investors who desire to purchase for Deferred Delivery Account, but who have no immediately available liquid resources, may do so by depositing with us marketable securities. For instance, against securities worth £100 we will lend £80—which, if invested on the above method, would buy £400 worth of securities, the £80 representing one-fifth of the amount of the purchase money.

REFERENCES.

Without fear of contradiction we claim that there is not one investor who can say we ever failed to pay prompt cash for stock sold or to deliver stock bought, and we are prepared to furnish Bankers', Chartered Accountants', and first class commercial references on application.

SLIGHT RECOVERY IN BRITISH TRADE.

JUMP IN IMPORTS.

August being the holiday month of the year, it is not surprising to find low levels of value in the trade returns for that period.

Exports during August reached a total value of £60,103,360, or £600,000 more than in July, though still £11,400,000 below the values of the record month of May, and £3,000,000 below the average value of the previous seven months.

At the same time imports have jumped from £76,818,334 in July to £88,743,197 in August, rising above the average for the previous months of the year by £800,000.

The tea import alone increased in bulk from 27 million to 43 million pounds and from just under two to just over three millions sterling in value. Sugar imports, too, advanced heavily—were, in fact, doubled in bulk—to 150,000 tons, and more than doubled in value at £3,356,638. Raw material imports increased in value by £1,340,000, and manufactured imports were up in value by £1,500,000.

Coal exports having diminished by 180,000 tons and £500,000 in value, there is a drop of £600,000 in the value of our raw material exports.

The slight advance of £700,000 in the value of manufactures sent abroad is recorded in the cotton trades (£600,000 increase), machinery trades (£260,000), woollen trades (£150,000), and the iron and steel trades (£100,000). Partially off-setting this is a drop of £176,000 in the value of vehicles sold.

Though the decline in British export values has been checked, the decline in the total value of exports continues. Reaching high-water mark in May at £83,328,290, they now stand at £66,232,141, as the result of successive monthly drops of £10,000,000, £5,000,000, and £2,000,000.

Imports during August, 1923, as compared with twelve months ago and in 1921, were:—

1923.	1922.	1921.
£88,743,197	£82,615,904	£88,554,663

Exports during the same periods were:—

1923.	1922.	1921.
£60,103,360	£60,032,237	£51,346,307

Re-exports for same periods:—

1923.	1922.	1921.
£6,128,781	£7,503,925	£9,997,779

Total exports for the month of August of 1923, 1922, and 1921 were:—

1923.	1922.	1921.
£66,232,141	£67,536,162	£61,344,086

The Soviet Legation in Riga categorically denies the rumour of Trotsky's assassination, and ridicules the statement that the report emanated from Moscow.

Anti-Soviet outbreaks are reported from Tsaritzin, Tula and other ports of Russia. A great strike has been declared in the Government textile works at Moscow.

DIVORCE REPORTS.

JOURNALISTS AND PROPOSED LEGISLATION.

At the resumed Conference at Harrogate yesterday of the Institute of Journalists, Mr. George Springfield, Chairman of the Executive Committee, brought forward the Judicial Proceedings (Regulation of Reports) Bill, moving that the Government be asked to provide facilities for further consideration of Sir Evelyn Cecil's bill. The President said the present bill was rather different from the one first introduced. He felt that the bill would get no further unless the Conference took some action. He had had a letter from Sir Evelyn Cecil, who said that he did not mind amendments, provided that the main principle was approved.

Mr. W. A. Locker, London, said he thought it very undesirable that the Institute should advocate further interference by legislation with the liberties of the Press. There was already a statute which would justify the Public Prosecutor in proceeding against newspapers that made a practice of picking out dirty cases. Mr. Locker suggested that action should be taken against one of those papers, and the present law demonstrated in a fair, honest, and courageous way.

Mr. Springfield said that the Press was the guardian of liberty, and an attack on liberty of speech was being made through the Press. If they were going to give support to the bill they were fastening a chain about their necks. They wanted to keep the Press clean.

The resolution was carried.

EXCLUDED FROM COURT.

SOLICITOR'S PROTEST TO CORNISH BENCH.

On arriving at Tywardreath (Cornwall) Police Court yesterday, solicitors and Press representatives were refused admission by the constable, who resolutely refused to open the door. When they were admitted after a case was heard, Mr. A. N. F. Goodman, a Plymouth solicitor, made a protest against their exclusion from the court, and said that the Bench had no authorisation to exclude solicitors, the Press or the public.

He said that if the practice were persisted in he would bring it to the notice of the Home Office. He had never heard of such an attitude being adopted in any court before.

The Chairman of the Bench, Mr. J. De Cresy Treffry, said that it was a general procedure of that Court to refuse admission during the hearing of a case.

Mr. Goodman asked if their Clerk had advised the Bench that they had no power to do that.

The Chairman replied that he would not argue the point. They had heard Mr. Goodman's protest.

Mr. Goodman said that he was entitled to courtesy and an explanation, and that he insisted on the legal rights of the Bar and the public being respected.

BRADFORD ADVOCATES PROTECTION.

PROPOSED TAX ON RAW MATERIAL.

For the first time in its history, the Bradford Chamber of Commerce yesterday passed a resolution in favour of Protection. It urged that the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference should be asked to consider the advisability of putting an export tax on raw materials going to all countries outside the British Empire.

Another resolution asked the Board of Trade to institute an inquiry into the causes of unemployment in the West Riding, in order that the Safeguarding of Industries Act might, if deemed advisable, be applied to West Riding trade.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Doreen Taylor, who was committed for trial on charges of theft last week, again appeared at Marlborough street, London, yesterday afternoon, charged with perjury.

A police witness gave evidence as to evidence volunteered by the accused when two men were charged some little time ago.

Mabel Watson, a domestic servant, said that she became acquainted with the accused, who told her that she was a fool to work, and suggested that they should take a room together. The witness told of going with Taylor to meet men in Piccadilly Circus.

Evidence was given by the prisoner's father, who resides at Burton-on-Trent. He said that the accused was nearly twenty-one and her name was Ida Margerison.

When charged the accused said that she did not know that she was committing perjury in merely giving a wrong name and address.

She was committed for trial.
